structive of Regulation.AYS CHIEF STRESS ON ECONOMIC ISSUE
Defends Methods Adopted to Combat Depression and Urges Need of Individual Responsibility in Meeting Crisis.By CHARLES G. ROSS, Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—President Hoover last night in his speech formally accepting the Republican presidential nomination,
wetter than his party platform when he declared that "in order to remedy present evils a change is necessary."The platform plank on prohibition steps with the statement that the people should be given the opportunity to vote on a new amendment providing for state option under Federal control. The difference is that whereas the platform
does not say that such an amendment should be adopted, the President puts himself on record for the proposal. The platform in other merely recommends a submission of a new amendment; the President calls for submission and action.So far as public interest in the speech was concerned, it was high light in a speech of 7500
words devoted to the main to the economic crisis and the steps taken
the administration to combat it.
The President spoke before an audience of 4000 in Constitution
hall and to the nation at large over the hookups.Discusses Economics First.
In announcing his personal platform for the campaign, President Hoover delayed his references to prohibition till after his discussion of "vast problems of economic and social order."He said that across the consideration of these problems there had been bitter controversy over the control of the liquor traffic. He said "always sympathized with the purpose of the eighteenth amendment" and had sought by all means at his command to make effective. But, he continued,
there was a majority sentiment against the amendment in an "increasing number of communities."Laws opposed by majority sentiment, he said, "create resentment which undermines enforcement and in the end produces degeneration and crime."Attacks Democratic Plan.
He attacked the Democratic republican plank as calculated to "destroy vestige of constitutional and effective Federal control of the liquor traffic." He could not, he said, consent to the return of the liquor system, which the eighteenth amendment had smashed "as a stroke of lightning."On the other hand, he could not consent to the present regime of practical nullification and of increased crime and violence in large parts of the country.
"I refuse," he summed up, "to rest sit on these destinies, on the one hand to return to the old saloon with its political and social corruption, and on the other to ensure the bootlegger and the speak-easy with their abuses and crime.
These are the ways out."He pleaded for "a sane solution,
a blind leap back to old evils."
Though pointing out that the President under the Constitution
has no power with respect to constitutional changes, he said that the people had a right to know his conclusions on this question. These conclusions, he said, were "clear and need not be misunderstood."
He believed that a change was necessary, and in outlining the change he desired, he took his stand on the amendment suggested by the Republican platform. He said that each state should be given the right to deal with the problem as it might see fit, but under strict constitutional limitations that would protect each state
from interference by its neighbors and would everywhere prevent the evils of the saloon.He believed that the proposed change was one "up which all reasonable people can find common ground" and he was convinced that American statesmanship could

Hoover's Stand on Prohibition

FOLLOWING is the text of President Hoover's discussion of the prohibition question in his speech of acceptance:Across the path of the nation's consideration of these vast problems of economic and social order, there has been bitter controversy over the control of the liquor traffic.
I have always sympathized
with the high purpose of the eighteenth amendment and I have used every power at my command to make it effective over the entire country. I have hoped it was the final solution of the evils of the liquor traffic against which our people have striven for generations. It has succeeded in great measure in those many communities where the majority sentiment is favorable to it. But in other and increasing number of communities
there is a majority sentiment unfavorable to it.Laws opposed by majority sentiment create resentment
which undermines enforcement
and in the end produces degen-eration and crime.Our opponents pledge the members of their party to destroy every vestige of constitutional and effective Federal control of the traffic. That means over large areas the return of the saloon system with its corruptive, its moral and social abuse which debauched the home, its deliberate interference with those states endeavoring to find honest solution, its perpetration of political parties,
and its perversion of legislatures, which even touched at the capitol of the nation.The eighteenth amendment smashed that regime as by a stroke of lightning. I cannot consent to the return of that system.At the same time we must recognize the difficulties which have developed in making the eighteenth amendment effective and that grave abuses have grown up.In order to secure the enforcement of the amendment
under our dual form of government, the constitutional provision called for concurrent action
on the part of the states and local authorities and on the other by the Federal Government. Its enforcement requires independent, but coincident action of both agencies. An increasing number of states and municipalities are proving themselves unwilling to engage in such enforcement. Due to these forces there is in large sections an increasing illegal traffic in liquor.But worse than this there has been in those areas a spread of disrespect not only for this law
but for all laws, grave dangers of practical nullification of the Constitution, a degeneration in municipal government and an increase in subsidized crime and violence. I cannot consent to the continuation of this regime.
I refuse to acquiesce in either
these destinies, on the one hand

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.

to return to the old saloon with its political and social corruption, or on the other to endure
the bootlegger and the speak-easy with their abuses and crime. Either is intolerable.
These are not the ways out.Our objective must be a sane solution, not a blind leap back to old evils. Moreover, such a step backward would result in chaos of new evils never yet experienced, because the local systems of prohibitions and controls which were developed over generations have been in large degree abandoned under the amendment.The Republican platform recommends submission of the question to the states that the people themselves may determine whether they desire a change, but insists that this submission shall propose a constructive and not a destructive change. It does not dictate to the conscience of any member of the party.The first duty of the President of the United States is to enforce the laws as they exist.
That I shall continue to do to the utmost of my ability. Any other course would be the abrogation of the very guarantees of liberty itself.The Constitution gives the President no power or authority with respect to changes in the Constitution itself; nevertheless my countrymen have a right to know my conclusions upon this matter. They are clear and need not be misunderstood. They are based upon the broad facts I have stated,
upon my experience in this high office, and upon the deep conviction that our purpose must be the elimination of the evils of this traffic from this civilization by practical measures.It is my belief that in order to remedy present evils a change is necessary by which we resumption a proper share
of initiative and responsibility which the very essence of our government demands shall rest
upon the states and local authorities. That change must avoid the return of the saloon.It is my conviction that the nature of this change, and one upon which all reasonable people can find common ground,
is that each state shall be given the right to deal with the problem as it may determine,
but subject to absolute guarantees in the Constitution of the United States to protect each state from interference and invasion by its neighbors, and that in no part of the United States shall there be a return of the saloon system with its inhabitable political and social corruption and its organized interference with other states.American statesmanship is capable of working out such a solution and making it effective.HOOVER ABOUT TO FIX DATE
OF INDUSTRIAL CONFERENCEAnnounces He Will Summon it Soon for United Action Toward Economic Recovery.By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—President Hoover announced today that he was ready to call a general conference of business and industrial leaders to seek united action along a wide front toward economic recovery. The date of the conference will be decided on Monday.In recently announcing a nine-
point program for economic relief,
the chief executive said that as soon as this program was more advanced he would call together the business and industrial committees of the Federal Reserve district
by outstanding men for the purpose of "establishing united and concerted action on the broad front throughout the country."Mr. Hoover said today he was about to set the date for such a meeting. He added the conference would engage in a general discussion aimed at loosening credit,
speeding the movement of agricultural commodities into consumption, eliminating slums districts, and stimulating slaway replacement and repairs.

Cheapest Grade of Gasoline Up.

An increase of 1.7 cents a gallon
in the price of the cheapest grade of Standard Oil gasoline became effective yesterday. This gasoline now retails in St. Louis for 13.6 cents a gallon, including 4 cents in taxes, and in St. Louis county for 14.1 cents. Prices of the regular grade and Ethyl remain unchanged.W. C. T. U. HEAD DENOUNCES HOOVER PROHIBITION POLICYMrs. Boole Declares President's Proposal Forebodes a "Destructive Change."By the Associated Press.
SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 12.—President Hoover's advocacy of a revision of national prohibition was denounced as foreboding a "destructive change," by Mrs. Ella
A. Boole, president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union."American statesmanship can not work out a solution that will be effective," she commented in a formal statement, "which will make this country part wet and part dry.
The proposed plan for the amendment will not be opposed by the dry forces every step of the way."The leader of the national W. C.
T. U. for the last seven years, who
a few hours previously had announced she would retire at the end of her present term of office,
went on to explain her stand."The proposed amendment," she said, "which would in effect repeal the eighteenth amendment and destroy national prohibition, would give states the right to deal with the problem as they see fit.
"It will not solve the problem
but will create new problems even more difficult. The amendment suggested plans for a destructive change."

WOMEN ON ENDURANCE FLIGHT

Mrs. Frances Marshall and Mrs.
Louise Thaden Take Off.By the Associated Press.
VALLEY STREAM, N. Y., Aug. 12.—Mrs. Frances Marshall of San Antonio, Tex., and Mrs. Louise Thaden of Baltimore, Md., took off
at 3:17 p. m., in an attempt to set an endurance flight record for women. The present record is 122 hours and 20 minutes set by Bobby Trout and Edna May Cooper in Los Angeles, Cal., last year.Shortly after their take-off a plane piloted by William Scott Jr., 18 years old, crashed near Glen Cove, leading to a report that the endurance flyers had met with an accident. Scott was removed to a hospital seriously injured.THIRD MAN SEIZED

to Be Returned at Once to Clayton, Where
Two Others Are Held.John Weldon Dial, charged with two associates with the slaying last Friday of Eldridge N. King, St.
Louis automobile salesman, to obtain possession of a flashy automobile, was arrested at the home of his parents in Lakeview, Tex., yesterday afternoon.The 22-year-old fugitive was rendered to Deputy Sheriff L. E.
Hill after the father, Ben Dial,
drove to the county seat at Memphis and informed the officer that John had returned home.The youth was weeping when Hill reached the Dial farm and on the drive to Memphis accused Floyd J. Dailey, who accompanied him on the "demonstration ride"
with King, of firing the fatal shot.
Dailey, arrested in the stolen automobile Tuesday at Greenfield, Ind., has said that Dial shot King when the salesman resisted their carefully laid plan to steal the machine.Sheriff Goes for Prisoner.
Dial waived extradition. Sheriff
Lill of St. Louis County, accompanied by Deputy Sheriff Newbold and Scott E. Stultz, fellow employe of King at the Weber Implement & Auto Co., 1829 Locust street, departed for Texas last night by automobile. Lill expects to return with the prisoner today.Deputy Sheriff Hill, temporarily in charge at Memphis in the absence of the Sheriff, had been watching for Dial after being informed by St. Louis police that the youth had fled to St. Louis. He was "going home" when he left here last Saturday. Dial apparently hitch-hiked to Texas, according to Hill, and appeared weary and travel worn. He did not call himself a fugitive, but in his statement to Hill, remarking, "two of us took the machine, and the other fellow shot the salesman." An attorney obtained by the father advised the youth against making any further statement.John Weldon is one of nine children of Mr. and Mrs. Dial. He played football on the county high school team at Memphis and later worked on his father's farm near Lakeview. The parents are highly respected in the community and are active in church affairs. Neither John Weldon nor any of the other Dial children has ever been in trouble before, according to Deputy Sheriff Hill. The father, in notifying Hill that John Weldon had come home, said he felt duty bound not to shield the youth from the law.Three Charged With Murder.
First degree murder warrants
were issued at Clayton yesterday against Dial, Dailey and Joe Fernandez. The latter is held on information that he participated in the robbery plans that ended in murder, but did not accompany the others on the fatal ride. As for Dailey and Dial, their counter ac-cussions as to who fired the shot will not affect their position in court, for both may be equally guilty of murder under the law.According to Dailey's story to police, Dial shot King in the back
"when the salesman made a swipe
at Tex." after Tex pulled a pistol
and told him to get out of the car.
Dial was known to St. Louis assistants as "Tex." Dailey admitted that he furnished the revolver,
which he stole from his brother-in-law.Dial came to St. Louis eight months ago, working first as a barber and later peddling soap from door to door. He roomed with an aunt at 1317 B Hickory street until the day of the murder, when he went to the home of another aunt after refusing to accompany Dailey
in the automobile they had killed King to get, "because it would be spotted." He attended a dance Friday night, and left "for home"
early morning after kissing his aunt and telling her he would "be good."Member of Militia.
Dial was a member of the medical detachment of the 138th Infantry, Missouri National Guard, and was scheduled to accompany the regiment to the annual encampment at Nevada, Mo., last Saturday night, but did not go.As has been told, Dailey was arrested when he aroused the suspicion of a Greenfield resident by attempting to barter a spare tire for gasoline. His shabby appear-

by two men of $10,200 of the bank's money on a westbound University street car as it was crossing the railroad viaduct west of De Balviere avenue at 11 o'clock this morning.The messenger, Jefferson Ross,
an elderly Negro, made no outcry and apparently only a few of the passengers were aware immediately of what was happening. Ross
said the robbers, who were white, alighted at what he thought was the first stop west of De Balviere.
This stop is Laurel street. At that point the car line follows an isolated private right-of-way.A woman passenger reported the robbers ran a block north to Pershing avenue, and got into an automobile.The trolley car was fairly well filled. Ross, who was on the way to the bank in Clayton from the Federal Reserve Bank downtown, rode about a mile and a half farther west to the end of the University line, after the robbery, before calling police. He telephoned the police from the University City Pharmacy, Big Bend boulevard and the car tracks, and later notified his bank by telephone.University City policemen, hurrying to the drug store in response to a radio message, said Ross was excited and frightened.Ross had $10,000 in bills and $200 in nickels in a paper bundle on his lap. He told a Post-Dispatch reporter that a man in shirt sleeves, wearing a black cap, took the seat beside him, as the car mounted the high viaduct, and held a revolver against his ribs."If you holler, I'll blow your head off," Ross quoted the robber
as saying.
The man seized the package. His companion, in an adjacent seat, described by the messenger as costless and hatless, rang the bell
for the car to stop. Then the robbers ran to their machine.Ross is 65 years old and resides at 7727 Bonhomme avenue, Clayton. He has worked for the First National Bank of Clayton, which is at 42 South Central avenue, as messenger and janitor, since about 1903. Edward F. Eble, cashier of the bank, said Ross was a trusted employee and was on duty at the time of the robbery. He said he was not under bond, does not carry arms and is not licensed as a watchman. The bank's loss is in-after next November's election developed today when Roosevelt announced he would withhold his action until after the question of his removal power went to the courts.Shortly after the morning session of the Walker hearing, now in its second day, the Governor stated he would not pass on the Mayor's case until the Supreme Court had had an opportunity to determine the legality of a writ of prohibition, demanded by George Donnelly, secretary of the Bronx

Chamber of Commerce. The Supreme Court does not meet until
Aug. 19.Should either party to the litigation dispute the action of the Supreme Court, the way would be open for appeals to the Appellate Division and finally the court of last resort—the Court of Appeals.
Donnelly, rebuffed in three courts today obtained from Justice Harold J. Hinman of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court an order instructing Roosevelt to explain his jurisdiction. The Governor directed Attorney-General John J. Bennett Jr. to prepare an argument on the legality of the action.No Discourtesy to Court.
Bennett, leaving Gov. Roosevelt's office after a five-minute conference, said: "The Governor sent for me immediately and told me to notify Justice Hinman that he would show no discourtesy to the court and would withhold his decision until the courts had passed upon his authority."Donnelly contends Roosevelt, in sitting in judgment on Walker, is violating the home rule provision of the Constitution. The Mayor's dilemma remains in effect, he argues, should be determined by New York City's Government.Under questioning by the Governor, Mayor Walker today dis-claimed any financial benefit from the grant of the franchise to the Equitable Gas Co. and disputed the testimony of Park Commissioner Walter R. Herriot that he had bought for the Mayor 300 shares of stock later used as collateral on a loan by Equitable officers.Walker testified that neither he nor Paul Block put up any money to play the stock market. It was all on a credit basis, he added. "I was liable for any losses in that account," said the Mayor. "As a matter of fact, there were losses and I paid half of them."Gov. Roosevelt decided at the opening of the hearing that Mayor Walker may summon for cross-examination any witness whose testimony is included in the record of the Hofstadter committee. I shall make it possible for them to do so."He denied the contention of Walker's counsel that the Hofstadter committee evidence had no standing in this hearing.Gov. Roosevelt's ruling that the

BRITISH WINDING UP PARLEY; TRADE AGREEMENT NEAR

Arrangements Made to End Ottawa Conference Thursday, When Plenary Session Will Be Held.

CANADIAN ACCORD NOT AIMED AT U. S.

Young MacDonald Says It Is to Set Example for Other Nations in Combating Depression.

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 12.—England and Canada, whose problems have constituted the most difficult task of the Imperial Trade Conference, were reported today to be virtually agreed on a trade conference plan. Agreements were begun to bring the conference to a close next Thursday when a plenary session will be held.

Asked if the British-Canadian accord held the prospect of breaking the United States domination of the Canadian market, Malcolm MacDonald, son of the British Prime Minister, said the idea of British preference was not aimed at the trade of any foreign country.

Primarily, he said, it was to set an example of expeditious commerce which other nations might follow in trying to overcome the world depression.

It is possible that the agreement will not be made public until it is presented to the British and Canadian legislatures.

The question of silver monetization was said to be virtually out of the picture with the coming of the South African delegation, claiming the major victory of the conference for his country in its defense of the gold standard.

The conference is to get a report on the progress of the British radio and motion picture films for the Dominions. The plan to agree to take a certain number of British films annually is not popular with Canadian exhibitors, whose bookings run 30 per cent to United States films.

The present plan of the conference is to embody the various agreements in a multi-lateral agreement covering accords as between Great Britain, the Dominions and India. There remain possible agreements as between individual dominions, which might make it necessary for members of individual delegations to remain in Ottawa after the conference proper has closed.

The Australians asked the mother country for a most preference in the British market of three to four cents. Britain made a counter offer of three-quarters of a cent with a stipulation that Australia grant a preference on British textiles. There the negotiations were deadlocked.

Canada also has requested a most preference from Britain and Prime Minister Bennett has indicated that the Ottawa Government was not prepared to lower textile duties materially.

A preference the United Kingdom of four cents a pound on copper from empire sources and preferences for other minerals, notably lead, zinc, aluminum, nickel and asbestos, are understood to be the recommendations of the subcommittee on base metals.

ST. LOUIS COUNTY BOY WINS STATE 4-H HEALTH CONTEST

Hannibal Girl Victor in Her Division, a Filled Tooth Cutting Score to 99.9.

By the Associated Press. COLUMBIA, Mo., Aug. 12.—The crown of Missouri's healthiest boy and girl rested on the heads of Donald Karl of Chesterfield and Maudie Lee Bradshaw of Hannibal who today were found to be the healthiest of the 4-H Club members of the State. Results of the examinations were made public this morning before the club members adjourned at the annual round-up which has been in progress this week at the Missouri College of Agriculture.

Miss Bradshaw was the real winner, her score card averaging 99.9 per cent with the deduction made for one filled tooth. Karl's average was 99, with fractions of a point taken off for a subnormal muscle tone, three filled teeth, and imperfect ears.

Among the winning projects today were: Horticulture—St. Louis County, Louis and James Wehrmer, Florissant; Bee, grain, sorghum and stock judging—St. Charles County, Margaret and Marie Kasten, St. Charles; Grain judging—St. Charles County, Vincent Burns and Margaret Zimmerman, West Alton.

Trains Delayed by Nebraska Floods By the Associated Press.

OMAHA, Neb., Aug. 12.—All westbound trains were held here today awaiting abatement of flood conditions resulting from a torrential rainfall throughout Eastern Nebraska last night. The fall measured 6.63 inches here and eight inches (officially) at Elkhorn Neb. Valley and highways were inundated. The rain was believed responsible for the drowning at Nebraska, Neb. of Dr. D. B. Hansen who was answering a night call.

Child Shipped by Air Express

ELINOR L. MATHESON.

EIGHT years old, was weighed like any other package as she was sent from Detroit to Chicago by her mother, Mrs. Marion Matheson. Although the regular passenger fare is $13.55, Elinor traveled as a "package" for $7.25. William Werthman of the Trans-American Airlines is weighing Elinor prior to shipment. She was allowed a seat in the plane.

METEOR COUNTERS TO WATCH FOR PERSEIDS AGAIN TONIGHT

Cloudy Skies for Two Nights Prevent Satisfactory Check on Fall Over Most of Country.

Watchers of the American Meteor Society in all parts of the country will scan the skies after midnight tonight for the Perseid meteor display, after two disappointing nights when clouds interfered over an area ranging from seven to eight-tenths of the country.

Last night the Perseid shower, greatest of the annual meteor shows, reached its peak, but the sky could be seen for only half an hour from 12:50 to 1:30 a. m. Three observers at the home of J. Wesley Simpson of the Meteor Society counted 25 in the half hour, with the sky partly obscured, indicating a "corrective rate" of 51 an hour. Since the display reaches its peak an hour or more later—193 corrective hourly rate after 3 a. m., Aug. 12, last year—Simpson said that with clear skies last night the spectacle plainly would have come up to expectations.

Tonight's display, even with partly clear skies, he said, should reach that of Wednesday night, when 230 were observed, one so brilliant as to be classified as a fire ball. The Perseids are especially spectacular, since they trail long, lellow streaks in the sky. Simpson said observers might see the display rise and pass its peak between 2 and 4 a. m., or probably could see the greatest display between 2:45 and 3:45. Missouri observers may aid evidence by sending records of the number, time and conditions of view of Simpson at 633 Locksley avenue, Webster Groves.

RUSSIA DENIES IT PLANS TO FLOAT LOAN IN U. S.

Absence of Official Relationship Between Countries Is Stressed in Moscow.

MOSCOW, Aug. 12.—Soviet Russia has not attempted to market any of its domestic loans in the United States or other foreign countries, nor does it intend to try to float a bond issue in America, especially long as the present absence of official relationship between the two countries continues, it was said authoritatively today.

Reports published in New York that such action had been taken or was contemplated in anticipation of eventual recognition of Soviet Russia by the United States were described here as inaccurate.

The supposition was that these reports arose from the fact that the latest domestic loan, recently issued to the amount of 3,200,000,000 rubles (nominally $1,600,000,000) to finance the last year of the five-year plan contains a provision that the bonds may be purchased in foreign currency and draw interest in the same currency at the regular rate of 10 per cent.

It was emphasized that the Soviet Government was not trying to sell its bonds to other countries, although any foreign investors wishing to do so may purchase them through the State bank and its correspondents abroad.

FLYING SQUADRON'S FAITH IN HOOVER IS "INTENSIFIED"

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 12.—Oliver W. Stewart, president, and other officers of the Flying Squadron Foundation, a national dry organization, today sent a telegram to President Hoover saying that his acceptance speech "reaffirms and intensifies our faith in you."

The message also said that "notwithstanding our conviction that no proposed Amendment to the Eighteenth Amendment can prevent the return of the former evils of the liquor traffic and destroy those from which we now suffer, your manifest sincerity and high purpose enable us to trust the cause of prohibition in your hands."

JAPAN APPROVES HOOVER POLICY OF NON-AGGRESSION

Fails to See, However, How His Acceptance Speech Applies to Tokio's Position in Manchuria.

By the Associated Press. TOKIO, Aug. 12.—The Japanese Government fails to see how President Hoover's new doctrine of refusal to recognize possession of territory gained by force applies to Japan's position in Manchuria, a foreign official spokesman said today.

The reference occurred in the President's speech of acceptance last night and in Government circles here it was accepted, as was the speech earlier in the week, as a reference to the Manchurian case.

"Japan never will seek title to possession of territory in Manchuria—to use the President's phrase—not to the end of time," said the spokesman. "There are many Occidental powers which, if placed as Japan is regarding Manchuria, would long ago have annexed Manchuria."

"Japan has absolutely no intention of annexation. Many Japanese are even doubting the wisdom of the annexation of Korea, which has been a liability lowering the general economic level of the Empire."

"The President's doctrine as he expressed it seems to us wholehearted. What we object to is having the anti-war pact constantly poked under our noses with charges that we are violating it."

"Both the United States and Great Britain signed the Kellogg pact with reservations concerning their right to resort to war in self-defense. (Therefore they are hard-pressed in a position to deny our right to resort to arms in the defense of interests vital to the well-being of the empire. That is all we have done in Manchuria. The decision as to whether military action constitutes self-defense must be left to the nation directly concerned, and not with world opinion."

The spokesman said the Hoover speech, like Simpson's, sought to marshal the administration's achievements in foreign policy as arguments for re-election.

"If the American people can be convinced that the Hoover-Stimson doctrine of non-recognition constitutes a real achievement," he said, "perhaps we should not complain about their harping on it, even though the implications are unfavorable to Japan."

The papers gave considerable space to a Foreign Office version of Ambassador DeBouché's report of a conversation with Stimson regarding the Secretary's speech in New York early this week.

Stimson, it was said, explained that in that speech he had referred to "an aggressor" vaguely and generally, not specifically intending Japan. He told the Ambassador that, although in his real to uphold the Kellogg pact and the nine-Power treaty he might have used expressions branding Japan's unpopularity, if Japan understood America's real intentions, it would know that it had no reason to take offense.

Seabury and Walker Clash at Ouster Hearing

Hofstadter committee evidence was used by him in reaching his decision was immediately challenged by John J. Curtin, Walker's counsel.

"I challenge the production in this room, or any room, by anybody of a case of evidence of that sort that stood up," said Curtin. "No such case has ever been written in the English language."

"We attack the validity as well as the jurisdiction of the Hofstadter evidence," added Curtin, who entered an exception to the Governor's statement.

Curtin challenged Gov. Roosevelt to cite any case where "testimony of this sort had been used as evidence in a proceeding of this sort."

"The first recorded instance of the value of cross-examination," he said, "is in the Bible itself."

He then recited the story of Susanna and the elders who, repulsed by her, accused her of improper conduct with another man. (The story appears in the apocryphal addition to the Book of Daniel, and is not found in some versions of the Bible.)

"She was condemned to death on the story of the elders," Curtin said. "Then up rose Daniel and said: 'Not so fast!'"

"And so he concluded, after relating how the stories of the elders disagreed when Daniel questioned them separately, 'they put to death, not Susanna, but the elders.'"

"Your reference to the Biblical Susanna and the elders," remarked Gov. Roosevelt, smiling. "You, Mr. Curtin, are in the position of Daniel. His honor, the Mayor, I shall not say in the position of Susanna."

Walker cut in, "I sometimes feel like it."

"You may call the elders," the Governor went on. "I have given you the privilege to cross-examine."

Curtin argued that Seabury, not Walker, should submit a list of witnesses on whose testimony he relied most in drawing up his conclusions against Walker.

Objects to Seabury's Analysis. He objected to using Seabury's analysis of the evidence before the Hofstadter committee as a basis for questioning the Mayor, on the ground that Seabury himself at yesterday's session called attention to one or two mistakes in it, which he attributed to the printers.

Curtin cited a summary of the charges involving the Equitable Coach Co., Inc., prepared from 150 pages of testimony by George Trook, an assistant of Seabury as containing statements based on Trook's conclusions, rather than the evidence.

"I am not holding this hearing," Roosevelt interrupted, "on conclusions by Judge Seabury or on briefs. They are not in evidence."

Governor Shows Impatience. Several times the Governor showed impatience during Curtin's prolonged argument.

"Never mind what he indicates," Gov. Roosevelt cut in once, as Curtin discussed Trook's brief, "stick to the evidence."

Curtin wound up with a repetition of the demand that Seabury's produce witnesses to be cross-examined by Walker.

Gov. Roosevelt reiterated that the record did not include any briefs or conclusions.

During Curtin's argument he intimated that Walker, if removed, might seek exoneration by again running for Mayor. He contended that if the Mayor was removed and ran for office and was elected—and I have no doubt he would be—it would be possible to again try him and remove him on the same evidence. That certainly would be defeating democratic representation."

"My ruling this morning stands," the Governor said. "That is, that the testimony before the Hofstadter committee is in evidence before this hearing and that, if you and the Mayor wish to call any material witnesses for cross-examination, you may."

Curtin then entered for the record an objection to the hearing, on the ground that it was not within the jurisdiction of the Governor.

As Curtin continued his prolonged and involved arguments, the Governor appeared to grow more impatient. He frowned and fidgeted, now and then conferring in a position to deny our right to resort to arms in the defense of interests vital to the well-being of the empire. That is all we have done in Manchuria. The decision as to whether military action constitutes self-defense must be left to the nation directly concerned, and not with world opinion."

that Senator Hastings was interested in the Equitable Coach Co. A—Yes.

Q—When did you know Senator Hastings was interested in the company? A—Back sometime during the period when the franchise was up.

Q—Did you know Senator Hastings was on the payroll of Equitable Coach Co. as far back as September, 1927? A—I didn't know he was on a salary, although I understood he was interested in some way.

Discussed Franchise with Hastings. Q—Did you talk with Senator Hastings about the Equitable franchise? A—Yes.

Q—If you didn't know he had a financial interest in the company what did you think his interest was? A—I knew he was interested in bus transportation. He had been with other companies.

Gov. Roosevelt asked Walker if he remembered attending a party celebrating the granting of the Equitable franchise. "I attended no celebration," Walker said. "I did attend a party, but no one who knew anything about bus transportation was there."

Q—Was Senator Hastings there? A. Senator Hastings and his wife were there, but he was not there because of interest in bus transportation. Walker said the event was a dinner party, attended by "theatrical people, who didn't know any more about bus transportation than the people in Honolulu."

He did not know, he said, whether any Equitable Coach Co. officials were present. He said he could not remember ever in his life having seen J. Allan Smith, New York representative of the company.

Q—$10,000 Letter of Credit. Roosevelt then turned to the $10,000 letter of credit purchased by Smith.

Q. Where was Senator Hastings' office at that time? A. I don't know.

Q. Did you know Senator Hastings had an office with J. Allan Smith? A. I did not, and I don't know it yet.

Gov. Roosevelt then read from the record of the Hofstadter Committee testimony of Senator John A. Hastings to the effect that the Mayor had told him he would aid in financing the Equitable if Hastings would give him his word of honor not to buy any stock of the company.

A. I didn't pick Hastings out to address myself specifically to him. I never had any such conversation with Hastings.

Seabury said: "Since you won't answer that question, I'll put it this way."

"Your Excellency," Walker cried, "I won't have that inference. There has been 14 months of that. This cross-examination of the executive mind has no right here."

Seabury said he had no more questions.

Roosevelt then took up the testimony of Park Commissioner Walter R. Herrick regarding the purchase of Interstate Trust stock.

Contradicting Walker, Herrick testified before the Hofstadter Committee that he bought 350 shares of Interstate stock for $39,000 with the understanding they were for the Mayor. The stock was later offered by S. Allan Smith as collateral for a loan that was obtained to help get financial backing for the Equitable franchise.

Gov. Roosevelt, reading from the record, observed that when the loan, obtained by Smith on the Interstate Trust Co. stock, was paid up by selling 150 shares of the stock, the sale of the stock brought in approximately $39,000 more than the total of the loan.

"The record indicated that $39,000 was paid to Senator Hastings," Roosevelt observed. "Did you know that?" "I did not," Walker replied.

Walker said former Gov. Silzer of New Jersey told him he would lay aside 300 shares of Interstate stock for him before the company was organized, but Walker said he refused it.

Quizzed on Stock Purchase. "Wasn't it considered a valuable right to be able to buy this Interstate stock?" Roosevelt asked. "I don't know," Walker replied. "It may be they wanted me to buy the stock for the very reason they wanted Gov. Silzer to be president of the bank. Or, as people frequently must want to trade on the prestige of your excellency. Surely the Mayor of New York is not being asked to explain matters of this sort."

Walker said Herrick bought the 350 shares of Interstate stock that had been laid aside for the Mayor.

"He didn't have any letter or authorization from me," he said. "I merely said to him, as I said to several others, 'There it is. If you're interested in it, go get it.'"

Q. Herrick has testified the money for the purchase came from the City Hall. A—I don't know how he reached that conclusion. I have talked with my former secretary, Edward M. Stanton. He says he didn't send the money to Herrick and wanted to testify to that effect before the committee, but he wasn't called.

When the afternoon session opened, Gov. Roosevelt proceeded to question Walker about the $10,000 letter of credit purchased by J. Allan Smith of the Equitable company and used by the Mayor and his party on a European trip in 1927.

He asked the Mayor to state what he knew about the letter of credit.

"I was invited," Walker said, "to take the trip by J. Rodman Wanamaker, to study municipal conditions in Europe. Mr. Wanamaker was unable to go. He had suggested I be accompanied by several officials. I invited Mr. Herrick, Senator Downing and Hector Fuller. Mr. Wanamaker's expense, but there was a suggestion among ourselves that we should take some money of our own for personal expenses. Senator Downing suggested we pool our money in a letter of credit."

The matter was left to Senator Downing. I subscribed an amount to the fund, leaving it in cash with my secretary, Mr. Stanton, to give to Senator Downing. Stanton gave the money to Senator Downing."

"When I used the word 'I did not sign' A. Senator Hastings, explaining Senator Downing asked him to do so."

Signed $3000 Overdraft. Walker said he signed both the letter of credit and the later $3000 overdraft in Paris, because they were made out to him. "They were made out to me, I suppose," he said, "because I was the best known member of the party."

Q. In effect, your signature on the overdraft was a promise to pay $3000 to the Equitable Trust Co. wasn't it? A. Yes—my name was used.

Q. When did you learn J. Allan Smith purchased the letter of credit? A. Since the Seabury investigation began.

Walker said Senator Downing—the late Senator Bernard Downing—paid the overdraft.

"Senator Downing is dead," Roosevelt remarked. "Yes, Senator Downing is dead," Walker replied. "But Mr. Walker is alive, Mr. Fuller is alive, several of Senator Downing's friends are alive—they all know about this."

"There is evidence," Roosevelt said, "that Smith paid the overdraft. But Mr. Walker is alive, Mr. Fuller is alive, several of Senator Downing's friends are alive—they all know about this."

what he described as a photostatic copy of the $3000 overdraft.

The Governor read the letter of credit.

"It shows five withdrawals made in Europe between Sept. 1, 1927, and Sept. 20, 1927," Gov. Roosevelt said. "On Sept. 20 the $10,000 was exhausted."

The Governor also read a letter, "Paid J. A. Smith," on a check issued to a Syracuse bank.

Q. Mr. Mayor, do you know how that overdraft was handled in Paris? A. Senator Downing handled it.

"The inference, your excellency, Walker added, "is that my vote the Equitable bus franchise was influenced by that letter of credit. I believe the inference can also be drawn that all those who voted the franchise on the Board of Estimate were influenced by it."

Q. Having signed that $3000 overdraft, did you ask anything about it? A. I told Senator Downing I had been informed by the Albany the following January (1928).

Paul Block Account. The Governor next turned to joint brokerage account established by Paul Block with Walker as an official.

He asked Walker to tell story of the account.

Seabury in his conclusions put the word "Beneficence" in quotation marks and charged Block with interest in a concern trying to sell tile to the City of New York.

"When I used the word 'I did not know I was to be on trial for English. Mr. Block never told me tile or anything else to the City of New York."

"I was liable for any losses that account. As a matter of fact, there were losses, and I paid for them."

No Money Put Up. "The account was opened credit, without a dollar from me or us. Mr. Block directed it, using his knowledge and his experience—and that's what I mean by 'Beneficence.'"

"I resent the implication of Paul Block, in opening this account, hoped to get anything on the City of New York. That."

ST. LOUIS POLICE RELEASE SHELTON ON MURDER ALIBI

Angster Talked to Deputy Sheriff Five Minutes Before Slaying of Oliver A. Moore, He Says.

OFFICER DIFFERS WITH HIM ON TIME

Friends of Slain Union Leader Not Impressed With Story—Say Gunmen Were Imported.

East St. Louis police had made progress today in the investigation of the murder of Oliver Moore, president of the Central Trades Council, who was assassinated by machine gunners Wednesday night as he was leaving a union headquarters, 506 St. Louis avenue, East St. Louis.

Carl Shelton, notorious East Side leader, who, Deputy Sheriff Leashy, was employed with a number of his gunmen to guard a Phillips Petroleum plant three miles south of East St. Louis as a result of a 21-month dispute with East St. Louis labor unions, was questioned by the Chief of Police Leashy of East St. Louis yesterday afternoon. He was not held.

Shelton telephoned Chief Leashy yesterday morning, asked if Leashy intended to question him, and answered in the affirmative.

Shelton came to headquarters in the afternoon.

Leashy thereupon announced he had issued an arrest order for Shelton and expected that he would be taken into custody before the day was over.

At 2:15 when Shelton stroled to the East St. Louis headquarters building and went directly to Chief Leashy's private office. Shortly after 6 o'clock Leashy was sitting reporters and news photographers. Leashy, who called a press conference during the course of the afternoon while Shelton remained in the private office, related that he had an ally elsewhere when the killing occurred at 9:30 o'clock Wednesday night.

What Shelton Told Chief. "Carl won't pose for any pictures," the Chief said, "and he won't talk to any reporters, but here's what he tells me about Wednesday night. He says he was taking to Deputy Sheriff Frank Kerrigan in the 200 block of Missouri avenue about five minutes before Moore was killed."

The Chief accepted Shelton's story without question. However, Deputy Sheriff Kerrigan told reporters it was slightly before 9 o'clock, more than half an hour before the killing, that he saw Shelton in the 200 block of Missouri avenue with four or five companions.

"I then saw Moore at the labor headquarters, where he was later murdered," Kerrigan said, "and he said he wanted me to escort him to his home. He said he didn't, because he thought there wouldn't be any more trouble. He told me he thought the dispute with the Phillips Petroleum Co. was about settled."

Chief Is Mystified. Chief Leashy told the Post-Dispatch today that the murder mystified him. "I have nothing yet to suspect anyone on definitely, but, 'because it might have been personal quarrel.'"

"What makes you think that?" he was asked. "Well, it might have been."

"I don't think Carl had anything to do with

GARNER TOUCHES HUEY LONG'S GOAT THREE TIMES 'FOR LUCK'

Taps Lapel After Pointing Out What Senator Did for Mrs. Caraway.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 12.—John N. Garner, the Democratic Vice Presidential candidate, stopped here briefly today on his way to Albany to meet his running mate for the first time since the nomination. He declined to comment on political issues until he had talked with Gov. Roosevelt.

Half way through his breakfast, Senator Huey P. Long barked in, dressed in a white suit and carrying a fancy cane.

"Hello Jack! Thought you might wish to touch my garment to bring you luck," grinned the Kingfish.

"Judging by what you did for Senator Caraway, I think I ought to do it three times," replied Garner as he tapped Huey's lapel.

Long told Garner "of course you will win," and advised the Texan to get Roosevelt to come to New Orleans for luck.

"Tell him to come to Louisiana and New Orleans, if only for half an hour, and he'll get all the luck there is," said Long. "Andrew Jackson came here and look what happened to him. Andrew Jackson. Huey then sauntered out and Garner finished his breakfast."

SKULL OF WRITER SHOWN TO JURY IN LANCASTER TRIAL

Criminologist Uses It to Illustrate Contention That Flyer's Rival in Love Killed Self.

By the Associated Press.

MIAMI, Fla., Aug. 12.—Using the skull of Haden Clarke and the pistol that ended his life to illustrate his testimony, Arthur H. Hamilton, criminologist of Auburn, N. Y., told a jury today he was "absolutely convinced" Clarke committed suicide.

"There is not a scintilla of evidence here to show that Clarke was murdered," Hamilton testified as a defense witness in the trial of Capt. W. N. Lancaster, British aviator charged with the young writer's murder.

Clarke was shot to death at the home of Mrs. J. M. Keith-Miller, Australian aviatrix, to whose affections he had succeeded Lancaster.

Hamilton's decisively expressed opinion climaxed a morning of testimony in which he pointed out various characteristics of suicide. Each of them he demonstrated on the skull or with the pistol.

"No indication of homicide," "Are you sure Clarke was not murdered?" defense counsel J. M. Carson asked.

"I am absolutely sure," Hamilton repeated. "There is every indication of suicide and nothing in the world to give the slightest indication of homicide."

Suicide is indicated in cases where a pistol is held closely to the head in sealed contact, he said. Hamilton testified he entered the trial at his own suggestion, after reading newspaper reports of trial testimony.

Idly snapping the trigger, Hamilton said microscopic examination of the pistol showed blood and tissue on the front sight, indicating that it had been pressed firmly against Clarke's head at the time he was shot.

Jurors Examine Skull. Taking Clarke's skull in his hands, Hamilton stepped down before the jury to describe the characteristics of the bullet holes. Eventually he passed the skull to each of the jurors.

"The skull shows five radial fractures—made not by the bullet, but by exploding gases that preceded the bullet," Hamilton testified. "That, by ballooning of the flesh around the wound and the discoloration of the skull bones, shows conclusively that the pistol was held firmly against the head when the bullet was fired."

He held the death pistol against his head and snapped the trigger to illuminate his point. He was showing the position in which the pistol was held at the time the fatal bullet entered Clarke's head.

The skull, along with slides showing parts of the head, were taken before the jury and spectators by Dr. M. H. Tallman, defense witness and one of a commission of four specialists who conducted an autopsy on the body of the young author. The specialists have been called in the defense's effort to prove Clarke killed himself.

The two bullet holes, one marking entrance of the bullet that fatally wounded Clarke on April 21, and other marking the exit, were pointed out by Dr. Tallman. Lancaster was a close observer.

After brief argument by counsel, the skull was admitted as evidence, but the slides were temporarily withheld.

This was because Dr. Tallman said it would be impossible without chemical analysis to tell whether the head tissue was powder marked, a frequent characteristic of suicide.

The autopsy report, after a medical commission examined the body of Clarke three weeks after death, told of finding "ballooned" flesh about the wound.

WATER HEATER RECEIVERSHIP

American Co. Says It Is Solvent, but Needs Protection From Suits. Circuit Judge Hartmann appointed Harry C. Tabler and Orville Livingston today as joint receivers for the American Water Heater Co., 1100 North Sixth street, of which Tabler is general manager. The action was taken on petition of the W. A. Case & Son Manufacturing Co., a creditor.

The defendant company filed an answer setting forth that the firm is solvent, but receivership is necessary in order to protect it against creditors who were threatening to bring suits. Tabler explained to the court that such suits might retard plans under way providing for either a reorganization or sale of the business.

Harry S. Gluck and Max Sigeloff were named as counsel for the receivers. Livingston is secretary of the St. Louis Association of Credit Men.

James Francis Burke Buried. By the Associated Press.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 12.—James Francis Burke, general counsel of the Republican National Committee, was buried today beside his mother. High Government officials and leaders in industrial and commercial centers of the nation attended the funeral. There was a solemn high mass of requiem in St. Paul's Cathedral and then the cortege moved to Calvary Cemetery followed by a detail of 75 policemen and plain-clothes officers. Hundreds visited the residence last night and early today.

Hoover Felicitates Germany. By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—President Hoover today sent a telegram to President von Hindenburg extending his greetings on the anniversary of the establishment of the German republic. The message said: "I am sending you my sincere greetings on this national anniversary. Permit me to extend through you to the German people the good wishes of my fellow countrymen."

The State Department also made public telegrams to President Hoover from King George of England, and King Carol of Rumania, expressing their greetings on the birth anniversary of the President, and his replies.

Type Company Officer Dies. By the Associated Press.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., Aug. 12.—Walter S. Marder, 65 years old, vice-president, secretary and a director of the American Type Foundry Co. of Jersey City, died today at Muhlenberg Hospital. He was a son of John Marder of the type-founding concern of Marder, Luss & Co., Chicago, originator and developer of the point system of type bodies. His widow, a daughter and four sons survive.

JAPAN THREATENS TO DEFY LEAGUE, RECOGNIZE PU-YI

Investigators' Forthcoming Report on Manchuria Is Utterly Unacceptable, Tokyo Official Says.

By the Associated Press.
TOKIO, Aug. 12.—Recognition of Henry Pu-yi's Government in Manchuria by Japan was declared today by a Foreign Office spokesman to be nearer because the Government learned that the report of the League of Nations inquiry commission will contain findings and recommendations utterly unacceptable to the Japanese.

The report is now being completed by the commission at Peking. As a result of its character, the spokesman said, the Government feels strongly that early recognition of the Pu-yi Government is necessary to show the world that Japan is determined to maintain its stand in Manchuria.

He added, however, that the recognition was not likely to be announced before the commission's report is received and published at Geneva, which probably will be late in September.

According to the Government's information, the report will recommend that the Chinese Government at Nanking appoint a governor in Manchuria, thus restoring at least the form of Chinese sovereignty. This conflicts fundamentally with Japan's determination to eradicate Chinese control.

The report also will deny, it was learned, that China's trespasses on Japan's vested interests in Manchuria were serious enough to justify the Japanese military campaign and also that the Manchukuo Government is a product of the will of the Manchurian people.

These were two fundamental points used by Japan to justify its Manchurian policy.

GETS 6-MONTH SENTENCE IN $23 PAY COLLECTING FRAUD

Richard Short, 19 years old, was sentenced to six months in the Workhouse yesterday for fraudulently obtaining $23 from the Pevely Dairy Co. by collecting back pay due an employee of the company who was killed in an automobile accident. He represented himself as being sent by relatives of the employee to collect the money.

Short, who pleaded guilty before Provisional Judge Gallant in the Court of Criminal Correction, of obtaining money under false pretenses, went to the dairy company May 18 last. He was arrested July 13, when he attempted to obtain $1.50 from Mrs. C. C. Pierce, secretary at Christ Church Cathedral, by impersonating over the telephone a member of the Municipal Opera chorus. He gave the name of a player and said he needed $1.50 to obtain enough to buy a ticket to visit his ill mother in California.

LESS MONEY IN CIRCULATION

Federal Reserve Report for Week Shows $31,000,000 Drop.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—The weekly statement of the Federal Reserve board yesterday showed that money in circulation had dropped $31,000,000 in the last week to $5,707,000,000. The amount in circulation, however, is $517,000,000 more than a year ago, when it was estimated that nearly a billion dollars was being hoarded. Last week's drop in circulation was accepted by officials as indicating money was coming out of hiding, going into channels of commerce, and eventually finding its way back into the Treasury.

The report also showed the country's stock of monetary gold had increased $18,000,000 during the last week, bringing the total held by the United States to $4,005,000,000. The return flow has amounted to $73,000,000 since July 13, and is believed by officials to be one of the factors leading to a restoration of confidence.

Judgment Against Ethel Barrymore

By the Associated Press.
WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Aug. 12.—A judgment of $197, representing an unpaid grocery bill was entered yesterday against Ethel Barrymore, the actress. The judgment was awarded Charles Cohen, Larchmont, N. Y., as assignee of the Oranale Market of Mamaroneck, N. Y. Service was made by posting a notice on the door of the actress' home here after a process server called 17 times in vain, and the judgment was by default. A judgment of $2000 for an unpaid butcher's bill was filed against Miss Barrymore last year.

SEIZED BANK CASHIER IS FREED BY ROBBERS

Kidnaped by Two Men With $5000 Loot, but Released
Near Wichita, Kan.

By the Associated Press.
WICHITA, Kan., Aug. 12.—W. C. Logan, cashier of the Farmers' State Bank of Silver Creek, Neb., was released near here last night, unharmed, by two men who robbed his bank of $5000 early yesterday and forced him to accompany them in their automobile.

Logan said the two men entered his home at 2 a. m. through a window, threatened him with pistols and forced him to accompany them to the bank where they waited until 8 o'clock for the vault time lock to open. Seizing both cash and currency, the robbers forced him to enter their car.

Logan said no stop was made for meals. He reported no mistreatment. The robbers, he said, continued on to the south after releasing him.

Residents at Silver Creek said they saw an automobile near the bank about 7 a. m. carrying a Topeka (Kan.) license.

Drowned When Fan Falls Into Tub

By the Associated Press.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 12.—Hubert P. Ward, 21 years old, was bathing last night in a tub under an electric fan. The fan tumbled into the tub and the electric current was short-circuited, shocking Hubert into insensibility. He drowned.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

ON PRESIDENT'S SPEECH

Varied Reactions in Press to His Pronouncement on Prohibition.

Editorial comment on President Hoover's speech of acceptance deals largely with his reference to prohibition. Excerpts from expressions in some of the leading newspapers over the country follow:

New York Evening Sun — The part of President Hoover's speech of acceptance which deals with prohibition will please his wet supporters at least in one respect. The President goes farther than the platform of his party. . . . This (the President's plan) is the Dwight Morrow method except for the mention of the saloon system; Mr. Morrow wished to leave the problems of regulation entirely to the states. And, after all, what other practical way out is there?

New York Times — The real substance . . . is that he has been compelled to hold that the eighteenth amendment is a failure. . . . It is an honest and manly thing that the President has done in thus making his attitude clearly known. . . . In the beginning of the speech Mr. Hoover reviewed "the past three years of unparalleled economic calamity." It would be cruel to remind him that in 1923 he was promising three years of mounting Republican prosperity.

New York Herald Tribune — In going beyond the Chicago platform . . . he places the end of national prohibition beyond the realm of debate.

Cleveland Plain Dealer — Mr. Hoover goes farther than his party in the direction of repeal. His position is nearer the Democratic than the Republican platform. . . . This can mean but one thing, the end of the eighteenth amendment. . . . Mr. Hoover gives his dry friends a speaking but inside it hurts him more than it does them.

Cleveland News — Not only has he presented the case of the breakdown of the eighteenth amendment . . . but he has offered a remedy for the disastrous conditions. The stigma of the Chicago platform has been wiped out. Mr. Hoover very honestly and with the precision of the scientist lists the results of the "noble experiment" and finds them wanting. He is honest enough to admit it.

Atlanta Constitution — The chief significance of the address is in his admission that his one-time "noble experiment" of prohibition has become an ignoble failure. He seeks to remove the dry vote by an attack on the Democratic position on prohibition, while appealing for the wet vote by indorsing the Democratic position.

Brooklyn Eagle — Mr. Hoover's attitude on prohibition is plain and definite. It presses down harder on both sides than does his party platform, but he is no less a straddler. His equivocation on this issue is all the more marked coming after his generally candid speech. It marks his whole story and raises doubts about it.

New York World-Telegram — It seems as if a new Hoover were trying to struggle out through that acceptance speech or, perhaps, the old Hoover for whom we may at us thought we were voting in 1928. There was in it a degree of candor, of definite commitment and of deep feeling such as we have not seen in any speech by the President since he entered the White House.

modification of the dry laws excepting change of amendment. . . . He doesn't give any evidence that he has at any time made any effort to enforce prohibition. . . . He stands for a false policy of the Federal Government, a policy that must lead to the destruction of the union. . . . He stands for interference of the Federal Government in state police. . . . Finally—prohibition. This is Hoover's masterpiece. . . . The clearest, the most constructive and the most intelligent utterance on the subject which this whole controversy has produced.

Now No Choice of Candidates on Question, Brookhart Says. WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—Senator Brookhart of Iowa commented on President Hoover's speech as follows: "The Hoover speech is an entire desertion of the prohibition cause. This is no news to me as I felt he deserted it when he retained Andrew W. Mellon in charge of enforcement when he entered the presidency. Now the President makes the humiliating admission and points out how he has been whipped by the speak-easies and the bootleggers and is unable to enforce the law. This is the most humiliating admission ever made by a President of the United States in a speech. There is now no choice of candidates in Columbus Dispatch — Herbert Hoover's speech is the greatest of his career. It marks him as a statesman who put his country before his party. It was straight from the heart.

Lewiston (Me.) Daily Sun — President Hoover has given abundant reason why he ought not to be re-elected. Why he is a dangerous man to have at the head of the Government. . . . He gives his theories on prohibition as if he were nothing but a professor in college. . . . He doesn't give any evidence that he has at any time made any effort to enforce prohibition. . . . He stands for a false policy of the Federal Government, a policy that must lead to the destruction of the union. . . . He stands for interference of the Federal Government in state police. . . . Lewiston (Me.) Daily Sun — President Hoover has given abundant reason why he ought not to be re-elected. Why he is a dangerous man to have at the head of the Government. . . . He gives his theories on prohibition as if he were nothing but a professor in the major parties upon this question. Representative Dyer (Rep.), Missouri, said: "I thought it was a very able presentation of the situation affecting the country. His statement on prohibition was clear and ought to be satisfactory to everybody because he approves the action of the Republican convention in submitting repeal and putting the responsibility on Congress where it belongs. He practically recommended repeal according to the party platform. The question of bringing it about is up to Congress as well as modification of enforcement act. President Hoover is virtually on record as having advocated 2.75 per cent beer as of the Food Administration."

CHARGES OFFICIAL PUT 6 TIMES HIS SALARY IN BANK

Pennsylvania Governor Calls for Investigation of James S. Benn, Formerly on Utilities Board.

By the Associated Press.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 12.—Gov. Gifford Pinchot, who is urging the State Senate to investigate the relations of Public Service Commission members with public utilities during the last ten years, today charged that James S. Benn of Philadelphia, who resigned last year, deposited $650,000 in banks during ten years service on the commission. Benn's salary during this period, the Governor said in his statement to the press, was $100,000.

Within three of the ten years, the Governor said, Benn deposited $375,000, which he said was more than twice as much as the alleged former Chairman W. D. R. Ainey "is known to have deposited in five years."

Ainey resigned from the commission recently as the Senate was about to investigate the Governor's charges that he had adopted favors from public utility executives.

Several years ago Pinchot removed Benn from the commission for the good of the service, but the commissioner took his case to the State Supreme Court which decided that the Governor had no power to remove a commissioner without the consent of the Senate.

Benn resigned from the commission on May 13, 1931. He now is in Europe.

Pinchot appeared before the Senate on Wednesday and urged an immediate investigation of the commission. Yesterday a resolution providing for the investigation was presented by a State Senator friendly to the Governor and it was referred to committee for consideration.

"Mr. Benn," the Governor said, "is now abroad where he went with Charles H. English, the leading figure among public utility men in Northwestern Pennsylvania, immediately after the Ainey charges were made public."

"It is of the utmost importance that this investigation should be continued without delay."

NEW SUSPECT IN KIDNAPING OF TAYLORVILLE BANKER FREED

Vincent Galassi Establishes Alibi; Youth Arrested at Springfield

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 12.—

Vincent Galassi, one of two suspects seized yesterday for the kidnaping and holding of John B. Colegrove, 49-year-old Taylorville banker, last Friday, was released last night after, police said, he had presented an alibi.

John Capin, 18, who was reported to police as having been seen with Galassi and two men held at Taylorville a few hours before the banker was attacked in his home, was held for further investigation.

Police said that Galassi stated he was at his home with James Gammaltoni until 4 p. m. of the day Colegrove was seized. At that hour, Galassi said, Gammaltoni left him.

Police said that this was at variance with Gammaltoni's statement that he was with Galassi until 7 o'clock.

Capin and Galassi were seized by police and deputy sheriffs, aided by attaches of the State Bureau of Criminal Investigation and Identification.

Gammaltoni and Amelio Puszout, formerly of Detroit, Mich., were arrested several hours after Colegrove was ambushed in his home, struck repeatedly with a blackjack until that weapon was split open and driven in an automobile to a prairie, where he was abandoned after demands for $10,000 ransom had been made. Both Gammaltoni, who reportedly lost $6000 in the $1,500,000 collapse of Colegrove's Taylorville bank, and Puszout have denied that they were implicated in the attack on Colegrove.

DENIES U. S. IS HOARDING GOLD

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Aug. 12.—Assertions that the United States was hoarding the world's gold were denied at the Institute of Politics yesterday by Prof. John Henry Williams, Harvard University.

He suggested that France renounce the gold standard. The United States has made as free use of gold as advisable while much of her gold was being used as the basis of currency expansion in other countries on a gold exchange standard, he said.

While holding the inflow of gold in the United States was inevitable "despite all we could do to cooperate with allies to prevent it," Williams asserted France was sterilizing the world's gold. The only remedy is French renunciation of the gold standard, he said, for "as France is on the gold standard the Bank of France cannot refuse gold from member banks."

Writer of London Success Killed.

By the Associated Press.

BEAUVILLE, France, Aug. 12.—René Macdonald, whose first play, "Mistake of a Night," has been hailed as the best work produced in London this season, was killed in an automobile accident here today.

Two women companions were injured when Macdonald's car ran into a ditch and overturned.

ALIEN HELD AFTER SPENDING 8 YEARS IN U. S. ILLEGALLY

German Who Jumped Ship Fought as American Until Last

May.

By the Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 12.—Bruno Jaeger, 28 years old, a former instructor on the Berlin police force, who jumped his ship here in 1924 in the hope of making a fortune, was arrested yesterday for immigration authorities.

Jaeger, established as a painter at Strathmere, N. J., after eight years of comparative prosperity in this country, was arrested on the Delaware River bridge. With him were his wife, Martha, whom he married in Detroit four years ago, and their daughter, Elaine, 3 years old. The father was sent to the immigration station at Gloucester, N. J.

Federal agents said they first learned that Jaeger was in this country illegally last May, when a neighbor informed on him. Before the arrest could be made, Jaeger had to quit his job, packed up his little family and attempted to find work elsewhere. Jobless, he has been drifting about New Jersey hunting vainly for work. His arrest resulted when police recognized his automobile license number.

BOY, 11, STEALS TOMBSTONE

Florida Orphan Said He Wanted to Mark Mother's Grave.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Aug. 12.—An 11-year-old orphan was held today for stealing a tombstone to mark his mother's grave.

"Mother didn't have a tombstone over her grave," the boy told officers, "and ever since she was buried I've wanted her to have one. I was trying to work and buy one."

The case of the child, whose name was not disclosed, was placed under investigation.

RIOTS CONTINUE IN SPAIN; MOBS BURN CHURCHES

Southern Republicans Demand Death Penalty for Sanjurjo, Who Led Frustrated Rebellion.

By the Associated Press. MADRID, Aug. 12.—Rioting and burning was reported from much of Southern Spain today as the Government laid plans to punish Gen. Jose Sanjurjo, leader of a frustrated rebellion, and his followers.

One man was killed and three were wounded at Santa Fe when civil guards dispersed a group that burned the Agrarian Casino. One workman was killed in a political fight between laborers and employers.

A civil guard was killed at Seville when a mob attacked the jail. Cordons of soldiers were posted around religious houses there and heavy guards patrolled the streets.

The torch was applied to the office of a newspaper, the Church of San Ildefonso, the famous aristocratic La Sanbrera, the Agricultural Club, the Commercial Club and the Mercantile Club.

In the town of Meron extremists burned the Agriculturalists' Circle and headquarters of the Agriculturalists' Syndicate.

Mobs Fire Churches. In the towns of San Lúcar and Amalcollar mobs set fire to the churches, but the fires were put out by citizen volunteers.

In Santiponce a mob beat the Mayor with his cane. He was rescued by a group of Town Hall guards.

A line of guards was stationed around the building of the newspaper Las Provincias at Valencia to protect it from mobs. Gen. Li-quieta rushed from Switzerland by airplane to take charge of a menacing situation there.

Mobs burned a convent at Al-bacín and a church at Santotomas, near Granada, and stoned and set fire to a factory.

The death penalty was demanded today by some Southern Republican leaders for Sanjurjo. Director of Public Safety Mendendez announced a special Judge had been designated to preside over his trial.

Son of De Rivera Taken. Two sons of the Marquis de Esquivel, whose home was used as headquarters by Sanjurjo, were arrested at Algeciras while trying to leave Spain. The Valencian Monarchist, Enrique Adrian Mur was arrested in Teruel.

It was reported from Iran that Jose Antonio Primo de Rivera, son of the former Dictator, was arrested while trying to cross the frontier.

Premier Azana asked Congress to approve two projects—one regarding special punishments in the case of rebellion and extraordinary measures for assurance of public order; the other for premiums for loyalty. His proposals included an appropriation of 600,000 pesetas (about $40,000) for the reward fund. He asked that the Ministers be given the right to promote faithful employees.

The Premier said he intended exterminating the causes of rebellion.

SHAKEUP IN FOREIGN SERVICE ANNOUNCED BY MUSSOLINI

Augusto Rosso to Succeed Nobile as Ambassador to United States.

By the Associated Press. ROME, Aug. 12.—Augusto Rosso, director-general of the League of Nations affairs at the Foreign Ministry, was named Ambassador to Washington today in a shakeup of the diplomatic service by Premier Mussolini.

Rosso will succeed Nobile Giacomo de Martino.

The principal other appointments were that of Mario Arletta, Minister at Budapest, as Ambassador to Argentina, and Raffaele Guariglia, director of political and commercial affairs for Europe and the Near East, as Ambassador to Spain.

Guido Rocca, who accompanied former Foreign Minister Dino Grandi to the United States, was named Minister to Czechoslovakia. Grandi has been announced as the new Ambassador to Great Britain.

SECOND HOLDUP IN WEEK AT E. ST. LOUIS GARAGE

Robbers Obtain $145 at Western Auto Supply Co.; $500 Stolen Monday.

The Western Automobile Supply Co., 314 Collinsville avenue, East St. Louis, was robbed last night for the second time in a week and the fourth time this year.

Two armed men took $145 from the cash register at 7 o'clock last night after ordering the manager, Walter Kloth, a clerk and a customer to a rear room. In a hold-up there Monday robbers got about $500.

Clifford Exendine, attendant in a filling station at Eighth street and Riggett avenue, was robbed of $2 and John Taylor, attendant in a station at Ninth street and St. Clair avenue, was robbed of $15.

Flowers that All Flies or Mosquitoes Perfumed

Some years ago it was discovered that a certain field flower grown in Japan drove away winged insects. A shipment was sent to America for testing in a research laboratory. Here an extract was made from the flowers and sprayed in a closed room filled with flies and mosquitoes. Every insect perished at its touch.

Now that extract is the basis of Fly-Tox, developed at Mellon Institute of Industrial Research by Rex Research Fellowship. Ten years and over $100,000 have been spent by us in perfecting it. This Fly-Tox, used as directed, fills the room with a perfumed mist, at a cost that mist is stainless to fly or mosquito. These pests carry the diseases. Scams on streams. M. dren die cause. But every fly or mosquito that it touches dies at once. And they can't escape it when the room is filled.
These pests are deadly for they carry the germs of over 30 diseases. They deposit those germs on foods or in blood streams. Many thousands of children die every year from this cause. Hoover in Speech Wetter Than His Party Platform

work out a solution along the lines proposed.
He said nothing about modification of the Volstead act pending the adoption of a new constitutional amendment. Without naming the act, he said it was the first duty of the President to enforce existing laws, and this he intended to do to the utmost of his ability.
Fate "Calamity" in Two Stages.
The President subordinated the prohibition question to the issue which had grown out of the "unparalleled economic calamity" of the last three years. He divided this into two stages. In the first stage, he said, we were simply paying the penalty for "a reckless boom such as we have witnessed a score of times in our history." The country was beginning to slither itself when it was plunged into the second stage, 18 months ago, by the crashing of financial systems in foreign countries.
"The world-wide storm," he said, "rapidly grew to hurricane force, and the greatest economic emergency in all history. Unexpected, unforeseen and violent shocks with every month brought new dangers and new emergencies. Fear and apprehension gripped the heart of our people in every village and city."
One of the results was the withdrawal of over $2,400,000,000 from foreign countries from the United States and the hoarding of over $1,400,000,000 by our own citizens. The consequent shrinkage of credit brought on bank and business failures, unemployment and attendant evils.
"Two courses," continued the President, "were open. We might have done nothing. That would have been utter ruin. Instead, we met the situation with proposals to private business and the Congress for the most gigantic program of economic defense and counter-attack ever evolved in the history of the republic. We put it into action."
Through this program, the President said, fear and panic had been repelled and our military results achieved, all without violation of "the sanctity of the principles upon which this Republic has grown great." Among other accomplishments under this program, he listed the setting of "methods and assurances that there shall be none to suffer from hunger and from cold."
"As a nation," said the President, "we are undefeated and unafraid. Government by the people has not been defiled."
He gave credit to "the intrepid soul of our people," and added a tribute to "those members of the Democratic party in Congress whose patriotic co-operation against factional and demagogic opposition has assisted in a score of great undertakings."
A Word for the Democrats.
There was a word of praise also for "Democrats as well as Republicans leaders amongst our citizens for their co-operation and help."
His relief proposals, the President said, were based on the conception that the Federal Government, in giving aid to local governments and private institutions, must insist that they rely on their own resources so far as possible.
"And in all these emergencies and crises and in all our future policies," he added, "we must also preserve the fundamental principles of our social and economic system. It does not follow, because our difficulties are stupendous, because there are some souls timorous enough to doubt the validity of our ideals and our system, that we must turn to a state controlled or state directed social or economic system in order to cure our troubles."
"That is not liberalism: it is tyranny. It is the regimentation of men under autocratic bureaucracy, with all its extinction of liberty, of hope and of opportunity. Of course, no man of understanding says that our system works perfectly. It does not. The human race is not perfect. Nevertheless, the movement of true civilization is toward freedom rather than regimentation. This is our ideal."
He said that although unprecedented measures had been adopted to meet the economic storm, the American Government remained the same in its ideal as it was "when the people gave the presidency into my trust."
Outlines Reconstruction Policies.
After pledging himself to continue along the lines that had been laid down, the President outlined the reconstruction policies of his administration—his talks with business leaders in the early stage of the depression and their agreement "to uphold wages until the cost of living was adjusted"; the mobilization of organizations throughout the country to aid drought sufferers and "to prevent suffering from hunger and cold"; the expenditure, as he said, of $200,000,000 on Federal construction, joined with resistance to "pork barrel non-productive works"; the provision of $1,500,000,000 for loans to self-supporting works; the strengthening of the capacity of the Federal Land Banks; the German moratorium; the proposal of a billion-dollar cut in the cost of world armaments; the creation of the National Credit Association and then of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, which he said had prevented wholesale failures of banks, railroads and other institutions "in all of which the public interest was paramount."
He enumerated these and other relief measures, and added that he was now organizing "the private industrial and financial resources of the country to co-operate effectively with the vast governmental instrumentalities which we have in action, so that through their united and co-ordinated efforts we may move from defense to powerful attack upon the depression along the whole national front."
"Come what may," he said, "I shall maintain through all these measures the integrity of the great principles under which the Republic over a period of 150 years has grown to be the greatest nation on earth."
The President then set out, in numbered paragraphs, various points in his policies:
1. He stood "squarely for a protective tariff" and against the Democratic proposal of "a competitive tariff for revenue."
2. He was for the Tariff Commission as now constituted and not

WHAT HOOVER HAD TO SAY ABOUT PROHIBITION IN HIS 1928 ACCEPTANCE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.
In accepting the nomination for the Presidency in 1928, Herbert Hoover had this to say of prohibition:
"I do not favor the repeal of the eighteenth amendment. I stand for the efficient enforcement of the laws enacted thereunder."
"Our country has deliberately undertaken a great social and economic experiment, noble in motive and far-reaching in purpose. It must be worked out constructively."
"Common sense compels us to realize that while grave abuses have occurred—abuses which must be remedied. An organized searching investigation of fact and causes can alone determine the wise method of correcting them."
as the Democrats would revise it.
3. He was against cancellation of the war debts, with the proviso that "if for any particular annual balance the government offered some other tangible form of compensation such as the expansion of markets for American agriculture and labor, and the restoration and maintenance of our prosperity, then I am sure our citizens would consider such a proposal."
(4) For an army and navy "of a strength which guarantees that no foreign soldier will land on American soil."
(5) For rigidly restricted immigration.
(6) For revision of the railway transportation laws in the interest of greater stability and greater assurance of vital service.
(7) For the Federal regulation of interstate power but against Federal operation of the power business.
(8) For the conservation of our national resources.
(9) For reform of the abuses of financial power; for strengthening of the banking system.
(10) For a balanced budget.
(11) For reduction of governmental expenditures. In this connection he attacked the Democratic leadership of the House of Representatives for attempted "raids on the treasury."
(12) For reorganization of the government departments.
(13) For strict protection of the farmer and for the "practicable relief" to the farmer that would be brought about through relief of real property from "unfair burdens of taxation."
(14) For the development of rivers and harbors and highways.
(15) Against "wild schemes of uncontrolled inflation" of the currency.
(16) For the reorganization of law enforcement agencies and the courts.
(17) For prison reform.
He added that under the leadership of the Federal Government in his administration, important steps had been taken against illiteracy and for the protection of children.
Tells of Work for Peace.
The foreign policies of the Government, the President said, had been devoted to strengthening the foundations of world peace. Leadership had been given in "transforming the Kellogg-Briand pact from an inspiring outlawry of war to an organized instrument for peaceful settlements backed by definite mobilization of world public opinion against aggression. He said that under the spirit of the pact the United States would continue to work with other nations in times of emergency to promote peace.
"Above all," he said, "I have projected a new doctrine into international affairs—the doctrine that we do not and never will recognize title to possession of territory gained in violation of the peace pacts."
In the final section of his speech, the President said that emergency measures which had been put into effect represented an unparalleled use of the national power and expressed the belief that with patience and perseverance they would succeed.
"Free Men Is Our Goal."
"Not regimented mechanisms but free men," he said, "is our goal. Herein is the fundamental issue. A representative democracy, progressive and unafraid to meet its problems, but meeting them upon the foundations of experience, and not upon the waves of emotion or the insensate demands of a radicalism which grasps at every opportunity to exploit the sufferings of a people."
In conclusion, the President restated the case of his party on "the intelligence and the just discernment of the American people."
"Should my countrymen again place upon me the responsibilities of this high office," he said, "I shall carry forward the work of reconstruction. I shall hope long before another four years have passed to see the world prosperous and at peace and every American home again in the sunshine of genuine progress and genuine prosperity. I shall seek to maintain unimpaired and unweakened those fundamental traditional principles upon which our nation was founded and upon which it has grown. I shall invite and welcome the help of every man and woman in the preservation of the United States for the happiness of its people. This is my pledge to the nation and to almighty God."
The text of the President's address will be found on Page 1-C of this edition.

AMBASSADOR THEATER RECEIVERSHIP SUIT

Action Filed by Bond Holders Directed Against Building and Theater.
Suits for receivership for the Ambassador and Grand Central theater buildings and for the Ambassador Theater were filed in Circuit Court yesterday by two holders of bonds of Central Properties Corporation. They ask that transfer of the buildings to St. Louis Properties Corporation, made in 1928, be set aside, alleging that that deal enriched St. Louis Properties in excess of $1,000,000 at the expense of Central Properties.
An injunction is sought against surrender of the theater leases to any one and to stop Clarence M. Turley, vice-president and general manager of St. Louis Properties, from exercising management of the Ambassador Theater. The Grand Central Theater has been closed for some time. The suit also asks the court to have the Ambassador Building and the Grand Central Building leased at a proportionate time for a fair price.
Plaintiffs in the suit are H. Lawrence Miller, St. Louis lawyer, and M. Laphan of New York. They are represented by Randolph Laughlin, who has been counsel for Harry Koplar, pioneer St. Louis movie magnate, in attacks on the control of the Ambassador by Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc. Defendants are Central Properties, St. Louis Properties, Turley, William R. Orthwein, St. Louis lawyer and trustee under a bond issue on the Ambassador and Grand Central buildings; Skouras, Charles and George Skouras, brothers and E. M. Warner and Abel Cary Thomas, officers of Warner Bros.
The bond issue on the two buildings, floated by S. W. Straus & Co., Chicago, whom Orthwein represents, was for $4,500,000. The corporate relationships of Warner Bros. Skouras Bros. Enterprises (St. Louis movie holding concern), Central Properties and St. Louis Properties are highly involved. Last month St. Louis Properties took over the Ambassador and the Missouri theaters for non-payment of rent, but the Missouri has been turned over to the Paramount-Public Corporation.
Turley has hired Raymond Jones, a former Paramount employee, to manage the Ambassador for him. The suit charges existence of a conspiracy to enable Warner Bros. to buy out the theater properties "at a price so grossly inadequate the bondholders will be frozen out." The defendants, it is averred, threaten to surrender the lease to Orthwein, and Orthwein and Turley both are described as inexperienced in theater management.
Turley asserted today that facts and figures in the suit were garbled. He denied collusion or conspiracy existed and pointed out that the 5 per cent interest on the bonds had been paid regularly. He solid there was no reason to believe the next semi-annual interest due Oct. 20, would not be paid.

Skouras Bros. Enterprises, which owned a half interest in the company operating the Ambassador and Missouri heretofore, was put in receivership last December. Its receivers were to have taken over the theaters, but by stipulations between the parties of the suit this action was deferred until last Friday. No effort has been made since Friday by these receivers to seize the theaters.

DRIVER KILLED, 6 HURT IN COLLISION IN RAIN

Charles H. Edelman, St. Louis,
Loses Life in Auto Crash Near Cahokia.

Charles H. Edelman, 4981 Magnolia avenue, was killed and six persons were hurt yesterday when two automobiles collided head-on during a heavy rainstorm on Illinois State Highway No. 3 near Cahokia.

Edelman, 40 years old, a foreman for the Missouri Pacific Railroad, was driving north, accompanied by James McElain, 1910 Illinois avenue. The other car was driven by Arthur McClain of Dupon, who was accompanied by his wife and three small children.

Teahan, McClain and his wife suffered skull injuries and less serious hurts. Lloyd McClain, 4 years old, suffered a broken right leg and the other McClain children, Fern, 3, and James, 4, were cut and bruised.

All the injured were taken to St. Mary's Hospital in East St. Louis. Edelman died there of a fractured skull about 7 o'clock last night, two hours after the accident. Three injured when auto collided at Lindell and Boyle.

Three persons were injured in an automobile collision at Lindell boulevard and Boyle avenue at 2:45 o'clock last night. They are: Michael Griffin, a clerk, 805 Allegheny avenue, Luxembourg, his wife, Virginia, and Mrs. Griffin's brother, Albert Wille, 4077 Toenges avenue. They were treated at city hospital for scalp wounds. The driver of the other machine, Sam W. Kopman, 1711 North Park drive, East St. Louis, was uninjured.

PHILLIPS CO. EXPLAINS LABOR DISPUTE STAND

Petroleum Firm in Statement Says Guards Were Hired Solely for Protection.

A statement of the company's side of the labor controversy, which led to the assassination of President "Ollie" Moore of the East St. Louis Central Trades Council, was issued today in a newspaper advertisement signed by the Phillips Petroleum Co. and the Phillips Pipe Line Co.

It stated that in the course of the dispute with East St. Louis unions "the company was notified that it could not run its trucks upon the highways of the State of Illinois or the streets of the City of East St. Louis for the purpose of delivering gasoline to the company's service stations or to other service stations that were being supplied with petroleum products by the Phillips Petroleum Co."

Following that notification, the statement continues, "the company stood with its hands down by its side and allowed itself to be prevented from carrying on a perfectly lawful business in a peaceful and law-abiding manner."

Guards were employed, according to the statement, "in order to protect its property . . . after consultation and advice from leading members of the business community, through an agency engaged in such business . . . The management of neither of the companies was advised by the agency as to the personnel of the guards to be employed. That was a matter left entirely to the agency, the companies looking solely to the question of protection of life and property and the right to carry on a lawful business in a peaceful, law-abiding manner."

"In order to properly carry on the business of transporting and distributing gasoline," the statement sets forth, "it was necessary for the company to erect, at a convenient place in St. Clair County, large receiving and storage tanks. These tanks were of a character that had to be constructed by contractors specially equipped, there being none such in this community. It was therefore necessary for the company to enter into a contract with a Chicago concern for the erection of such tanks. The trouble that arose immediately thereafter because of the letting of this contract to this Chicago concern is a matter of public history, and is well known to all citizens of this community."

"Neither the Phillips Petroleum Co. nor its associated company, Phillips Pipe Line Co., had any quarrel of any kind with the union men. In fact, the Phillips stations were constructed with union labor, and the trucks used by the company for the distribution of gasoline were manned by union men. It was some of these very union men who were driving the trucks of the company who were willfully and viciously assaulted and unlawfully beaten."

When it became necessary to paint the tanks, the statement continues, "The regular crew of the company which takes care of painting and keeping in order all tanks and other properties of the company throughout its entire properties came to East St. Louis to paint the tanks. They began this work by the use of spraying machines and shortly thereafter the company was notified by the unions that it could not proceed with this work; that it would be necessary to allow this work to be done by the union at a cost of approximately $24,000 when the entire job could be done by the company at a cost not to exceed $8700 by use of spraying machines. The work was suspended and negotiations were entered into for the purpose of ascertaining if there was not some way that peace with the labor union might be maintained. This work is still unfinished."

When it was necessary to build more tanks, according to the statement, "this matter was taken up with the representatives of the labor unions and the company was advised that it would be entirely satisfactory to the unions if the company would enter into a contract with the Graver Tank and Manufacturing Co. of East Chicago, Ind., for the construction of such tanks. The Phillips Pipe Line Co. entered into a contract with the Graver company for the erection of such tanks, agreeing to pay the Graver company the sum of $10,000 in excess of the amount for which the company could have obtained similar tanks from other corporations that were not approved by the unions. This additional $10,000 was to be paid by the company solely for the purpose of entering into a contract with a company that would be satisfactory to the labor unions and in order to buy peace with the unions, or in order to continue the maintenance of friendly relations with the unions."

"After this contract had been entered into, for some reason beyond the control of the company, the unions were unable to make satisfactory arrangements with the Graver company and they began to make trouble for the pipe line company and the Phillips Petroleum Co. Demands were made by the unions that these two companies compel the Graver company to employ union labor in the construction of these tanks upon union terms and union scales. The pipe line company, having entered into a valid and binding contract with the Graver company, and the Graver company having entered upon the work of construction, the pipe line company was helpless in the premises."

"The company is still undertaking to carry on negotiations for

REJECTS ONE-CONTRACT PLAN FOR CITY HOSPITAL BUILDING

President Kinsey of Public Service Board Turns Down Sug. of Building Trades.

President Kinsey of the Board of Public Service today declined to consider a suggestion made by the Building Trades Council that a single contract be let by the city covering all items in the construction of a service building at the new City Hospital for Negroes.

On Aug. 23 the city will receive bids for the construction of the story and a half building, estimated at $240,000, and eight special items, covering installation of electrical equipment, conveyors, water sewer, and smoke stack, which will cost an estimated $88,000 additional.

In a letter to Kinsey, Maurice J. Cassidy, secretary of the Building Trades Council, states that greater harmony would result if all the work was let under one contract. Cassidy called attention to a statement by Kinsey some months ago, following labor disputes on the City Hospital Nurses' Home, that future city work would be let under a single contract.

Kinsey explained today that it has been considered advisable to split up the work on the service building under separate contracts, and the city intends to follow this plan.

WITH HATCHET WHEN ASLEEP

Father of Friend, at Whose Home He Spent Night, Held for Mental Examination.

Kermitt Lacey, 15 years old, is recovering at St. Mary's Hospital, East St. Louis, from a hatchet blow on the head inflicted by the father of his chum at whose home he was an overnight guest. The father, who has been ill and is thought to have been temporarily deranged, is held for examination of his mental condition.

The Lacey boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Lacey, 2628 St. Clair avenue, East St. Louis, spent Wednesday night at the home of his friend. Early yesterday the boys were sleeping on the floor of the living room, the father struck him with the hatchet.

CHAPIN AT CABINET MEETING

New Member at First Session Impressed by Group's Haste.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—Roy D. Chapin, the new Secretary of Commerce, attended his first Cabinet meeting today and said he found out that Mr. Hoover's official family "gets a lot done in a hurry."

Chapin was asked by newspapermen concerning his impressions of the meeting as compared with those of boards of directors on which he has served as an automobile manufacturer. "Well," he said, "I've been in business for 31 years, but I will say of this meeting that they certainly get a lot done in a hurry."

STATEMENT TO THE PUBLIC

Thursday, August 11, 1932.

The disturbances that have taken place in East St. Louis during the past few weeks are matters of common knowledge. They have been covered almost daily by the newspapers. It is sufficient to say that organized armed mobs have assembled on the streets of East St. Louis, have stopped employees of Phillips Petroleum Company, and have mercilessly beaten them with pistols and other weapons. They have not only beaten employees of Phillips Petroleum Company, but they have also assaulted and beaten other persons simply because they were suspected of being Phillips employees.

About two years ago Phillips Pipe Line Company, a company associated with Phillips Petroleum Company, came into this community with the construction of a gasoline pipe line from the Panhandle of Texas. In order to properly carry on the business of transporting and distributing gasoline, it was necessary for the company to erect, at a convenient place in St. Clair County, large receiving and storage tanks. These tanks were of a character that had to be constructed by contractors specially equipped, there being none such in this community. It was therefore necessary for the company to enter into a contract with a Chicago concern for the erection of such tanks. The trouble that arose immediately thereafter because of the letting of this contract to this Chicago corporation is a matter of public history, and is well known to all citizens of this community.

Neither Phillips Petroleum Company nor its associated company, Phillips Pipe Line Company, as such, had any quarrel of any kind with the labor unions. In fact, the Phillips stations were constructed with union labor, and the trucks used by the company for the distribution of gasoline were manned by union men. It was some of these very union men who were driving the trucks of the company who were willfully and viciously assaulted and unlawfully beaten by the mobs above referred to.

Some time ago it became necessary, as an ordinary maintenance detail, to paint the tanks that had been erected by this Chicago corporation. The regular crew of the company which takes care of painting and keeping in order the tanks and other properties of the company throughout its entire properties came to East St. Louis to paint the tanks. They began this work by the use of spraying machines, and shortly thereafter the company was notified by the unions that it could not proceed with this work; that it would be necessary to allow this work to be done by the union at a cost of approximately $24,000.00, when the entire job could be done by the company at a cost not to exceed $5,700.00 by use of spraying machines. When the company was notified by the union that it could not proceed with this painting work, the work was suspended and negotiations were entered into for the purpose of ascertaining if there was not some way that peace with the labor union might be maintained. This work is still unfinished.

Some time ago it became apparent that, in order to take care of the transportation and distribution of gasoline, it would be necessary for the Pipe Line Company to construct additional tanks at the company's terminal near East St. Louis. A number of companies were requested to submit bids for the furnishing of material for the construction of these tanks and for erection thereof. These requests for bids were submitted upon the condition that the work would have to be done with union labor. Not a single bid was received by the company in response to these requests, all companies refusing to bid on the basis of employing union labor.

The Pipe Line Company was then faced with the problem of how it would accomplish the construction of the necessary additional tankage. This matter was taken up with the representative of the labor unions and the company was advised that it would be entirely satisfactory to the unions if the company would enter into a contract with the Graver Tank and Manufacturing Company of East Chicago, Indiana, for the construction of such tanks. The Pipe Line Company entered into a contract with the Graver Company for the erection of the tanks, agreeing to pay the Graver Company the sum of $10,000.00 in excess of the amount for which the company could have obtained similar tanks from other corporations that were not approved by the unions. This additional sum of $10,000.00 was agreed to be paid by the company solely for the purpose of entering into a contract with a company that would be satisfactory to the labor unions and in order to buy peace with the unions, or in order to continue the maintenance of friendly relations with the unions.

After this contract had been entered into, for some reason beyond the control of the company, the unions were unable to make satisfactory arrangements with the Graver Company, and they began to make trouble for the Pipe Line Company and Phillips Petroleum Company. Demands were made by the unions that these two companies compel the Graver Company to employ union labor in the construction of these tanks upon union terms and upon union scales. The Pipe Line Company, having entered into a valid and binding contract with the Graver Company, and the Graver Company having entered upon the work of assembling materials and the work of construction, the Pipe Line company was helpless in the premises.

What happened thereafter, and during the weeks just passed, is a matter of common knowledge to this entire community. Having no quarrel of any kind with the Pipe Line Company or with Phillips Petroleum Company, having granted the Pipe Line Company a free clearance to enter into a contract with the Graver Company, the unions thereafter deemed the Graver Company to be unfair and charged Phillips Petroleum Company and its associated company, Phillips Pipe Line Company, with the responsibility therefor. The company was notified that it could not run its trucks upon the highways of the State of Illinois or the streets of the City of East St. Louis for the purpose of delivering gasoline to the company's service stations, or to other service stations that were being supplied with petroleum products by Phillips Petroleum Company.

The Company stood with its hands down by its side and allowed itself to be prevented from carrying on a perfectly lawful business in a peaceful and lawabiding manner.

In order to protect its property at its terminal, after consultation and advice from leading members of the business community, Phillips Pipe Line Company and Phillips Petroleum Company, through an agency, engaged in such business, arranged for the stationing of guards within the enclosure around the Pipe Line Company property at its terminal for no other purpose and with no other intention than the protection of the lives of the company's employees and the company's property. The management of neither of the companies was advised by the agency as to the personnel of the guards to be employed. That was a matter that was left entirely to the agency, the companies looking solely to the question of the protection of life and property and the right to carry on a lawful business in a peaceable lawabiding manner.

Phillips Petroleum Company and Phillips Pipe Line Company has had no quarrel with the labor unions on account of anything that has been done by either of these companies in connection with the construction and maintenance of the tanks, other than the fact that the Pipe Line Company was compelled to enter into contracts for the erection of tanks with companies that the unions thereafter had trouble with. Even in these circumstances, Phillips Petroleum Company and Phillips Pipe Line Company, have constantly endeavored to bring about a satisfactory adjustment of the troubles that have arisen between the Graver Company and the unions. Only Wednesday evening, representatives of Phillips Petroleum Company, in conference with representatives of the labor union, one of whom was Mr. Moore, were engaged in negotiations for a basis of working out the troubles between the Graver Company and the unions. Under these circumstances, certainly it will be recognized that the death of Mr. Moore has been a serious blow to the carrying out of these plans. Surely no one regrets more than does the management of the Phillips Petroleum Company the unfortunate affair in East St. Louis Wednesday night.

Phillips Petroleum Company and Phillips Pipe Line Company have at no time authorized or had knowledge of any negotiations in this entire matter except such as have been entered into and carried on publicly at conferences between the parties concerned.

The company is still undertaking to carry on negotiations for the settlement of the troubles that have grown out of the dispute between the Graver Company and the unions in which Phillips Petroleum Company feels that it has been an innocent victim, and sincerely trusts that an adjustment will be made that will restore peace to a suffering community, and that will be satisfactory to all parties concerned.

Very respectfully,

PHILLIPS PETROLEUM COMPANY

MISSOURI TO PUT 12,000 MORE MEN TO WORK ON ROADS

Adoption of 30-Hour Week and Hand Labor to Give 21,000 Jobs by End of Month.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Aug. 12.—The Missouri State Highway Department will provide work for approximately 12,000 additional men during the next 12 months, through its new policy of limiting individual laborers to a 30-hour work week, letting out contracts for future material requirements, and requiring hand labor instead of machinery, where possible, Chief Engineer T. H. Cutler reported today to Gov. Caulfield.

The department now is furnishing work for approximately 9000 men, including its own maintenance workers and the men employed by contractors on state highway construction. Cutler said the force, under the new policy, would reach approximately 21,000.

The expansion of employment will be effective late this month, when further road contracts are to be let. Cutler said the new requirements would be applied as fast as contracts are let, and would be put in force this month for the approximately 1000 maintenance employees of the department.

Wage Scale Established.
The Highway Commission has established a minimum hourly wage of 25 cents an hour for unskilled laborers and 50 cents an hour for skilled laborers. Under the 30-hour work week, this will assure unskilled laborers a wage of $10.50 a week and skilled laborers a wage of $15 a week.

While the policy has been outlined for the next 12 months, Cutler said the department would attempt to keep it in force as long as the unemployment emergency continues.

The new policy was adopted by the State Highway Commission at a meeting in Moberly last Tuesday, after the Governor had urged the commission to take steps as soon as possible to provide additional work to relieve unemployment.

The principal increase in the number employed will be through the 30-hour week, and substitution of hand labor for machinery. Employees receiving contracts will be given the option of working the 30-hour week or using "double shifts" on a basis of five hours a day for six days a week, Cutler said.

Of the 12,000 additional men the department expects to employ, approximately 2000 will be put to work preparing and storing crushed rock and other material for future use. The department is planning in this manner to store its crushed rock and gravel requirements for the next 12 months. The other additional 10,000 men will be utilized in road construction work, Cutler said.

Complaints have been received by the Highway Department from time to time that contractors had been sharply cutting the wages of unskilled labor, due to the large number of unemployed men available. It has been reported that in some instances contractors have cut the hourly wage for laborers as low as 10 or 15 cents an hour.

The new minimum wage requirements, and the 30-hour week, will be specified in the contracts awarded by the department, it was said. Cutler said the department would endeavor to have the additional employment distributed to residents of Missouri, to prevent an influx of unemployed men from other states.

To Increase Costs.
"The commission is fully aware of the fact that the program just adopted will increase the construction hour costs," Cutler said, "but it finds complete justification for its action in the fact that thousands of Missourians now without jobs will be given regular employment, who otherwise must face the alternative of acute privation or become the recipients of public charity."

"In this connection," Cutler said, "we wish you to know that every man who finds employment under the plan outlined will be required to give honest service for every hour he works. We are not asking contractors to give places to shirkers. In choosing the men for these jobs it will be the purpose of those in charge of the work to co-operate with such unemployment agencies as may be available."

Cutler said that with fair weather conditions, road construction could continue at full speed up until late in November and possibly into December. He said as many contracts would be let as possible to utilize the remainder of the construction season.

Winter weather will check the work on many of the contracts until March, unless there is an open winter. Under past weather conditions, work contracts paying projects usually did not start until about April 1.

To fill in the gap in construction work that will result from adverse weather conditions, Cutler said the department would let as many contracts as possible for bridge and grading work, clearing of rights-of-way, and other work which may be carried on with little or no interruption during the winter months. Grading may be carried on in the southern part of Missouri during most of the winter, Cutler said, but usually must be halted for two or three winter months in the northern part of the state.

6000 PERSONS ATTEND
HOOVER NOTIFICATIONAudience in Two Auditoriums
—Widow of President Roosevelt on Platform.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12. — A throne doted with many national and internationally known figures
packed Constitution Hall last night to hear President Hoover deliver his speech accepting renomination.
The selected 4000 received tickets
in Continental Hall, 100 yards away and connected by a long corridor, an audience of 2000 listened to the proceedings through loud speakers.The ovation was given to Mrs.
Edith Kermit Roosevelt, widow of the former President, as she walked to the stage. New applause followed presentation to her of a huge bouquet of White House roses. Mrs. Roosevelt, dressed in black, entered on the arm of Secretary Stimson.Aids Accompany President.
President Hoover arrived shortly before 9 p. m. He was accompanied by aids and one of his secretaries.On either side of the President's chair on the stage was Chairman Sanders of the Republican National Committee and Chairman Snell of the Notification Committee.Mrs. Roosevelt was on Snell's left with James E. Freeman, Episcopal Bishop of Washington; President Nevils of Georgetown University and Rabbi Simon beside her.Senator Moses of New Hampshire, Mrs. Dolly Gann, sister of Vice-President Curtis, and Mrs.
Lena Frost of the National Committee occupied front chairs. The Cabinet officers and their wives were on a back platform.The President, with the first lady, was given a 60-second demonstration as he walked upon the stage.Three-Minute Ovation.
Mr. Hoover, wearing white flax-nel trousers and a blue double-breasted coat, walked on the stage at 9:04. Only Mrs. Hoover, wearing a light blue chiffon dress, did not join in the applause.Bishop Freeman, pronouncing
the invocation, asked for "preservation of the President of the United States."Sanders introduced Snell, whose praise of Mr. Hoover drew repeated applause."Ain't it the truth?" shouted
someone in the audience as Snell said, "the nation knows that its wellfare is safe in your hands."Mr. Hoover received an ovation lasting more than three minutes as he arose to speak. Smiling, he sought silence, but every time he raised his hand the applause grew louder.As the demonstration ended, a man in the audience called "Three cheers for Hoover," and they came quickly.Reads His Speech.
The President stood with hands crossed upon a waist-high stand
through virtually all of his address.
He did not use gestures. He read steadily from a typewritten copy held upon a small stand raised to the level of his eyes.Applause interrupted him frequently as he recounted administration steps against the depression.When he mentioned initial advocacy of a bipartisan Tariff Commission by President Roosevelt, a demonstration broke out. Mrs.
Roosevelt, the widow, smiled and nodded her head. A standing ovation lasting nearly two minutes was given the President as he concluded.Following the usual order, the Marine Band played "The Star-Spangled Banner" following the closing prayer by the Rev. Coleman Nevils, president of Georgetown University—rather than at the beginning of the ceremonies.Immediately afterward, Mr. Hoover walked to Continental Hall, 100 yards away, to be greeted by the overflow crowd.ESCAPED CONVICT SURRENDERS AFTER VAIN QUEST FOR WORKWalks Into Drug Store Here and Asks for Sheriff; Once
With Bonus Marchers.A man who said he was Ray M.
Smooderly, 38 years old, a prisoner escaped from the Iowa State penitentiary at Anamosa, Ia., walked into a drug store at 891 E. Tyler avenue yesterday afternoon and told the druggist, Fred H. Schneider, he wanted to find the Sheriff.Schneider sent him to the home of Anton Klein, a deputy sheriff living at 894 E. Arthur avenue, where the man informed Mrs. Klein, he wanted to surrender. She telephoned her husband and two deputies were sent out to take charge of the man.He said he had been sentenced to 10 years on a charge of assault
to kill and escaped last May after serving six years. He decided to surrender, he said, after he had failed to find work in wandering about the country, including a visit to Washington, with the bonus marchers. Iowa authorities have been notified.

$105 TAKEN IN STORE HOLDUP

Ferdinand F. Dohr, proprietor of a dry goods store at 434 E. Natural bridge avenue, was held up yesterday afternoon by two armed men who asked to look at socks.The robbery took $105 from his pockets, $45 from the cash register and $55 from an unlocked safe in the rear of the store.Stephen J. Turner, attendant at a gasoline station at 1428 Tower grove avenue, was locked in the washroom by two men who robbed him of $19.50 and escaped in an automobile.RAIL HEADS PLAN JOINT WAGE CUT CONFERENCEExecutives of Three Sections
Expected to Meet in Chicago
Next Week.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—Executives representing Eastern, Southeastern and Western railroads will hold a joint conference in Chicago
next week to discuss plans for a further reduction in the wages of organized employees, it was said in rail circles today.It is expected the roads will consider data and exhibits on living costs to be used in proceedings under the railway labor act for a reduction of at least 5 per cent additional to 10 per cent wage cut made on Feb. 1 last.Such a program is understood to have been projected at the Eastern railroads' conference held here
yesterday, though no official confirmation of this could be obtained.
It was said today that the Eastern,
Western and Southeastern managements have for more than a month been accumulating material to bolster their drive for a further wage adjustment.Beyond the admission that a general discussion was had on the matter of further economies, no information was available as to any plans the roads may have for reducing the uneconomic competitive conditions which they pledged themselves to eliminate in their message to the public last month.Another meeting of Eastern railway heads is scheduled for today.
This will bring together executives
of the New York Central, Pennsylvania, Baltimore & Ohio and the Van Sweringen roads for a further consideration of the Interstate Commerce Commission's modified plan for consolidating the Eastern roads into four major trunk line
systems.LOOK! On South Broadway

Southern Railway Asks U. S. C. O. for Approval.By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—The Southern Railway applied to the Interstate Commerce Commission
yesterday for permission to borrow $9,251,000 from the Reconstruction
Finance Corporation.
The money would be used to pay interest on bonds and equipment trust obligations, installments on principal of equipment trust obligations and rent for leased roads.

Court adjudged him insane.FRANKLIN LOAN ASSOCIATION RECEIVER SOUGHT BY CREDITORPetition Filed by A. Bernstein, Who States Concern Over Him $7500.
A petition for a receiver for the Franklin Loan Association, with offices in the Paul Brown Building, was filed in Circuit Court yesterday by A. Bernstein, who states he is a creditor in the amount of $7500.
He said that the company, which has an authorized capital of $50,- 000, is being threatened with suits
by various creditors, which would cause great loss if liquidation is forced at this time. A receiver, he contends, could preserve the assets
for the benefit of all parties concerned. Judge Hartmann set the case for hearing Aug. 14.BUSY BEE

MISS POYNTON GAINS VICTORY
IN HIGH DIVING
AT OLYMPICS

By the Associated Press.
LOS ANGELES, Aug. 12. — Thrilling a near-capacity crowd of 6,000 persons with four graceful performances, Miss Dorothy Poynton, pretty Pasadena girl, today won the women's high diving championship of the Tenth Olympiad with a total point score of 10.26.
Miss Poynton provided the unexpected by defeating Miss Georgia Coleman, Los Angeles winner of the Olympic spring board diving title. Miss Coleman finished second with 9.66 points.
Clean Sweep for U. S.
Miss Poynton and Miss Coleman
and Miss Marion Roper made it a third clean sweep for the United States in the Olympic diving competition
for first, second and third places.
Americans had previously taken the first three positions in the men's and women's spring board championship.
Miss Roper was awarded 35.32
points for her third place in the field of seven contestants.
Others scored as follows:
Miss Ingelborg Sjoquist, Sweden, 34.52.
Miss Ingrid Larsen, Denmark,
33.96.
Miss Etsuko Kamakura, Japan,
33.34.
Miss Magdalene Eppl, Austria,
26.74.
Miss Poynton captured first place in all four compulsory dives. She scored 9.65 points in the running swan dive from the five-meter platform; 9.46 in the standing swan from the 10-meter stand;
10.30 in the running 10-meter swan
and 10.32 in the back jack-knife
from the five-meter height. Miss Coleman scored 8.80; 9.24; 7.68
and 9.84, respectively.
The girls compete in the four compulsory dives only.
Three in 400-Meter Final.
In the women's 400-meter free style semi-finals, the United States
qualified all three of its speed
racers—Miss Helene Madison, Miss Norene Forbes and Miss Lenore Eight—for the championship final tomorrow.
Miss Madison, winner of the 100-meter Olympic title and a favorite for the 400-meter crown, defeated Miss Jennie Maakal, South Africa, and Miss Forbes in the first heat. She finished 15 yards ahead of Miss Maakal, covering the distance in 5 minutes 48.7 seconds. The official Olympic record is 5 minutes 42.8 seconds, held by Martha Norvellus of New York.
Miss Eight was first in the other semi-final in 5:50.8.

Giants Make Six Double Plays
To Equal Record
By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—Lett
Clark held the Giants to four hits
today as the Brooklyn Dodgers defeated New York, 1 to 0.
The Giants equaled a major league record by completing six
double plays.
The record of six twin killings
was held by the Giants, the Cincinnati Reds and the Pittsburgh Pirates in the National League and the Philadelphia American Association club, which first set the mark
in 1889.
The Giants' feat kept the score close although the Dodgers pounded Fred Fitzsimmons for 12 hits.

PLANNING THE MENU:
RECIPES FOR WEEK

Breakfast Scones for Two Meals; Avocado for Salad and Cocktail.

Scones are a fine breakfast hot bread, and we have suggested serving them hot and buttered for Sunday morning in the Menu for the Week, making enough to have some left over to toast for breakfast on Monday. Make them as follows: Sift three cups flour with one teaspoon salt and four teaspoons baking powder. Add two tablespoons sugar and rub in one-half cup shortening, using a fork. When thoroughly blended, stir in one beaten egg mixed with one-half to two-thirds cup milk. Mix to a soft dough, turn out on a floured board and pat to a scant half inch thickness.

Shape with a round cutter about four inches in diameter, brush each scone with melted butter and sprinkle lightly with sugar. Crease with the back of a knife into quarters, place on a greased baking pan and bake in a hot oven for 15 minutes. Serve warm. If you wish, mix the flour, etc. for the scones and rub in the shortening the night before, and place the mixture in the freezer over night. In the morning it will take only a very few minutes to add the liquid and roll and shape the scones.

Roast duck served with boiled wild rice and a sliced orange salad makes an excellent Sunday dinner and one that takes comparatively little time to prepare. The jellied consommé, served as a first course, should be made on Saturday; the duck may be cleaned, stuffed, trussed and made ready to bake on Saturday. On Sunday the corn and the rice will have to be boiled, the salad made and the sauce prepared for the ice cream, which may be either home made or bought. This means allowing two hours for the duck to cook, 10 minutes for the rice, 10 minutes for the corn. Make the salad from sliced chilled oranges and diced celery, serving it with a French dressing.

Jellied Tomato Consommé.
Mix one cup canned tomato juice with one cup canned or freshly made consommé. Add a slice of onion and a very thin slice of lemon and heat slowly to the boiling point. Soak two teaspoons plain gelatin in one-third cup cold water for five minutes, stir into the hot tomato mixture and add salt as necessary to season. Remember that the canned consommé is already seasoned. Strain into bouillon cups, filling them two-thirds full. Set aside to chill and harden. Just before serving break the jellied mixture with a fork and sprinkle with minced parsley. Serves five or six.

Avocado Cocktail.
Chill a ripe avocado (alligator pear), cut in half, remove the pit, and peel the fruit. Cut in small even shaped dice and mix with an equal amount of diced orange. Add the juice of a fresh lime and mix carefully. The avocado is soft and mashes easily—be careful to keep the pieces whole. Let stand 15 to 20 minutes in a cold place. Serve in fruit cocktail glasses and garnish with a sprig of fresh mint.

Escalloped Noodles and Veal.
Cut cold cooked veal in small pieces or finely chop enough to make two cupsful. Break one-half pound broad noodles and cook in boiling salted water for 10 minutes or until tender. Drain, add one cup milk, one tablespoon minced onion, one tablespoon minced parsley, salt and pepper to season and two tablespoons flour. Stir over a slow fire until thickened. Add the veal and pour into a greased baking dish. Spread a layer of buttered bread crumbs over the top and brown in a hot oven. Serves five or six.

French Fried Eggplant.
Select a medium-sized eggplant, cut across in slices a scant half inch thick. Peel and cut the slices in strips half an inch wide or less. Dip the slices in beaten egg seasoned with salt and pepper and then in fine dry bread crumbs. Let stand for 15 minutes to dry, then fry in deep hot fat until brown. Heat the fat to 375 degrees. Drain on soft paper and serve hot.

Avocado Salad.
Chill a ripe avocado, cut in half lengthwise and peel. Remove the pit and cut the avocado lengthwise in slices a fourth inch thick. Arrange on cold plates on crisp lettuce alternating slices of avocado and sections of firm ripe tomato. Shave very thin slices of Spanish onion over the salad, garnish with crisp, short pieces of celery, and serve with a tart French dressing made with lemon juice instead of vinegar. One avocado, of medium size, three tomatoes, half an onion and a stalk of celery will serve six people.

Peach Sherbet.
Pick over, wash and mash two cups ripe peaches. Mash thoroughly and mix with one and one-half cups sugar and the juice of one small lemon. Let stand for at least an hour, then strain through cheesecloth, squeezing out all the juice. Add two cups water and one teaspoon gelatin soaked in one-fourth cup cold water and dissolved over hot water. Freeze in the usual manner, using one part fine rock salt to four parts cracked ice. Or freeze to a mush in a mechanical refrigerator, then remove tray, beat sherbet and add a stiffly beaten egg white. Return to refrigerator and finish freezing.

REFRIGERATOR RECIPE FOR FRUIT ICES AND SHERBETS

Water ices and sherbets are not always as successfully frozen in a mechanical refrigerator as are ice creams, parfaits and mousses. The following recipe is given as one of the best: Mix one-half cup orange juice, one-half cup lemon juice and one and one-quarter cups powdered sugar. Stir to dissolve sugar, and let stand for 10 minutes. Soak one teaspoonful plain gelatin in one-quarter cup cold water for five ## minutes, dissolve over hot water, and then stir into the fruit juices. Add two cups cold water and pour into freezing trays.

Freeze for an hour, remove trays and whip mixture until smooth. Repeat at the end of another hour and until firm.

It will not be quite as smooth as a water ice frozen in an ice and salt mixture and turned until stiff, but is quite acceptable. Grape juice, raspberry or pineapple juice may be substituted for the orange juice to make ices of different flavors.

CREAMY DRESSING FOR YOUNG CABBAGE OR LETTUCE

Shred or chop a crisp, firm head of cabbage. Put one teaspoon salt, one teaspoon sugar, one-half teaspoon dry mustard and one-quarter teaspoon Worcestershire sauce in a small bowl and add one-third cup evaporated milk. Beat in, a little at a time, one-half cup salad oil, using a fork or an egg beater. When the oil is all used, add gradually two tablespoons lemon juice, beating it in, too. The dressing will stiffen like mayonnaise. When thickened, add one tablespoon thick cream if convenient, or one-quarter cup whipped cream or evaporated milk. Four dressing over four cups chopped or shredded cabbage about 10 minutes before serving; one teaspoon celery seeds may be added at this time if liked.

This same dressing may be used also for hearts of lettuce.

SEASON THIS WITH PAPRIKA

Three to four pounds chicken, three tablespoons butter or fat, one large onion (sliced), salt, plenty of paprika.

Heat butter or fat, add onion and simmer until a light brown. Add chicken, which has been cut into eight portions and brown 15 minutes. Add a little water, and plenty of paprika, cover tightly and cook slowly until tender. Mushrooms, washed and cooked 5 minutes in boiling salted water, may be added to this chicken 15 minutes before serving.

SUITABLE SANDWICHES FOR THREE OCCASIONS

Luncheon, Teas and Picnics Call for Different Kinds.

The use of sandwiches is widespread for many forms of entertainment and happy is the woman who has a generous list of them. Below are given a few which have proven popular for the particular occasion designated.

Fillings for Tea Sandwiches.
Equal quantities of chopped walnut meats and sliced olives, moistened with mayonnaise between thin slices of buttered bread.

Open sandwiches spread with cream cheese and decorated with a border of sliced stuffed olives.
Open sandwiches spread with current jelly and with a border of cream cheese, forced through a pastry tube.

Fillings for Picnic Sandwiches.
One cup minced celery and one-half cup stuffed olives, chopped, moistened with mayonnaise and served on buttered rolls.

Six hard-cooked eggs, chopped, one-half cup pickle relish and mayonnaise to moisten. Spread this filling on buttered rolls.

Two cups ground cooked ham, one-half cup relish and two teaspoons mustard served between slices of buttered whole wheat bread.

LUNCHEON SANDWICHES.
Ham and Tomato Sandwiches.
Toast a slice of bread, on one side only, for each person to be served, butter the toast and place on it a thin slice of cold baked or boiled ham. On the ham place a thin slice of American cheese. Spread the cheese with a thin layer of mustard, and lay on a slice of tomato. Place under a broiler and grill until the cheese is melted and the tomato browned. Or place in a hot oven for a few minutes. Serve, garnished at one side with a small deep cup of lettuce filled with relish.

Hot Deviled Ham Sandwiches.
Cut ham finely and sprinkle it generously on slices of toast. Four over the hot toast and ham, a sauce made by melting two tablespoons butter in a saucepan and blending it with two tablespoons flour. Then add one cup milk and a dash of pepper, and stir until thickened. Add two tablespoons chopped pickles. This makes a creamy, well flavored dressing to be served over the slices of toast and ham. Garnish at one side with a pickle fan, made by cutting the parallel slice almost the length of the pickle, then carefully spreading out the sections to make a fan.

COLD PRESSED TONGUE IS ANOTHER GELATINE SUCCESS

Chop cooked tongue to make three cupsful. Mix with chopped hard-boiled eggs with two tablespoons minced pimiento, three tablespoons vinegar, salt and pepper to season. Soak four tablespoons plain gelatine in one-half cup cold water for 10 minutes, then dissolve in two cups boiling water in which three bouillon cubes are dissolved.

Add one tablespoon lemon juice and pour a layer half an inch thick in a greased bread pan. Chill as quickly as possible and when firm fill the pan with alternate layers of the chopped tongue and the egg mixture. Pour the rest of the gelatine liquid over it and set aside for several hours or overnight to chill and harden.

Turn out and cut down in thin slices for serving. The mold may be decorated with slices of stuffed olives, blanched pimiento nuts and strips of scalded green pepper, or pimiento. Serves eight.

BEEF AND HORSE RADISH SAUCE

Four pounds of beef, one medium-sized onion, one whole clove, small bay leaf, one sprig parsley, one and one-half teaspoons flour, one small slice of carrot, one-half tablespoon salt, one-half teaspoon pepper, two quarts boiling water, one and one-half tablespoons butter or drippings.

Put all ingredients except butter and flour into a pot and bring to a boil. Then cook slowly for about four hours until tender. With butter and flour and one-half cup clear soup from which fat has been removed make a sauce. Add two tablespoons grated horseradish and boil a few minutes and serve. Some think a little parsley sprinkled over the meat when served is a great improvement. For the sake of variety the meat may be browned like pot roast before serving.

WATER CRESS SANDWICHES

Serve watercress or cucumber sandwiches with vegetable or deviled egg salad as a change from plain bread or rolls. Use white or whole-wheat bread, butter lightly. If watercress is used remove the large stems, be sure the cress is crisp and dry, dip each sprig in well seasoned French dressing and place between slices of bread.

If cucumbers are used, slice thinly, dip in French dressing and arrange in layers between slices of buttered bread.

Melon and Orange.
Even shaped pieces cut from ripe, chilled cantaloupe and combined with sections of orange and fresh or canned grapefruit make a delicious fruit salad. Serve these attractively arranged on lettuce and garnish with mayonnaise mixed with beaten egg white (one beaten egg white folded into one-third cup well seasoned mayonnaise).

ELDERBERRY JELLY IS UNUSUAL IN FLAVOR

Loganberry Jam Also Distinctive and Very Good With Meats.

If you manage to get hold of some elderberries you can make delicious jelly of them. And if a few shipments of loganberries come from the North, try some in jam. Both are piquant with meat and game in the winter.

Elderberry Jelly.
3 1/4 cups juice
7 1/2 cups sugar
1/2 cup lemon juice
1 bottle fruit pectin

To prepare juice, remove larger stems from four pounds fully ripe elderberries; place in kettle and crush. Heat gently until juice starts to flow, then simmer, covered, 15 minutes. Place in jelly cloth or bag and squeeze out juice. Measure sugar and juice into large saucepan; add lemon juice and mix. Bring to boil over hottest fire and at once add pectin, stirring constantly. Then bring to a full rolling boil and boil one-half minute. Remove from fire, skim, pour quickly. Paraffin hot jelly at once. Makes 12 eight-ounce glasses.

Loganberry Jam.
Four cups (2 pounds) prepared fruit, six and one-half (3 1/2 pounds) sugar, one-half bottle fruit pectin.

To prepare fruit, crush or grind about two quarts fully ripe berries. Measure sugar and prepared fruit into large kettle, mix well, and bring to a full rolling boil over hottest fire. Stir constantly before and while boiling. Boil hard one minute. Remove from fire and stir in pectin. Then stir and skim by turns for just five minutes to cool slightly, to prevent floating fruit. Pour quickly. Paraffin hot jam at once. Makes 10 eight-ounce glasses.

JUST MEALS NEED CAREFUL PLANNING TO BE ATTRACTIVE
During the month of August, when the weather is so pleasant, it is a good idea to have a few meals planned with a little extra care. Most of us have had experience with hot weather appetites, and know how much depends on the selection of fresh, flavorful and appetizing foods, and how much more depends on serving them attractively. When we are very hungry the appearance of what we eat is not of so much importance, but when serves are frayed by a long continued hot spell, and the very thought of food is often distasteful, appetites can be tempted by such little things as chilled plates for salads, crisp lettuce or other greens, a well-planned cold platter, succulent green vegetables cooked just long enough and seasoned just right with a little lemon juice and butter.

Shaded lights at dinner time, or tall candles, a cool as possible dining room, flowers on the table and pleasant conversation help also.

ICED TEA AND COFFEE ARE NOT ALWAYS GOOD

Badly Prepared Beverages Are Disappointing—Correct Methods Outlined.

To have the best flavor with tea and coffee pour the hot, freshly made beverage over cracked ice to cool it quickly. Serve it as soon as possible after chilling it. Both tea and coffee should be made a little stronger than if they are to be served hot, to allow for dilution by the melting ice. Or freeze cubes of tea or coffee (medium strength) in your mechanical refrigerator and use this flavored ice to chill the hot beverage made usual strength.

Let's begin with specific directions for tea. Choose a good blend that suits your taste. Whatever your choice, use a sounding teaspoonful of tea for each glass of iced tea. Put the tea in the pot, pour in measured boiling water, add a thin strip of lemon peel, cover and let infuse for five minutes. Pour into glasses nearly full of cracked ice, or into a pitcher and serve with powdered sugar and slices of lemon, lime or orange.

Another way is to add the juice of one lemon to each four cups of tea, or one teaspoonful of lemon juice to each glass, pouring it over the ice before the tea is poured. If everyone likes sugar, add it to the hot tea on the teapot and let it dissolve while the tea is brewing. A much smoother flavored beverage is obtained in this way.

Tea Variations.
For variation add fresh lime juice, orange juice, or canned pineapple juice as flavoring. A sprig of mint adds a refreshing touch to each glass, but don't overdo it. Most people who like iced tea, like it for the tea flavor. If you use tea bags instead of loose tea, allow one to each portion of iced tea—and speaking of tea bags, have you seen the new ones made of cellophane? The tea is packed in these little cellophane bags which are perforated so that the tea infusion will seep through, and what an improvement they are to the unsightly cloth bags—unsightly that is after they have been used.

Iced coffee follows the procedure for making hot coffee. Use freshly ground coffee of a good blend and quality. Allow one rounding tablespoon of the ground coffee for each cup whether made in a percolator or a drip pot. Pour the strong hot coffee over cracked ice or over frozen coffee cubes as described above. Serve with powdered sugar and cream or evaporated milk. Powdered sugar dissolves more readily in cold drinks than granulated and so adds to the flavor.

Coffee that has been allowed to cool slowly may be used for iced coffee but does not have as rich a flavor as the freshly made. Be sure that iced coffee is strong—there is nothing more disappointing to coffee lovers than the watery concoction sometimes served in this manner. A good variation in the serving of iced coffee is to chill it quickly in a bowl or pitcher, then serve individual portions with a scoop of vanilla ice cream instead of plain cream and sugar.

OKRA RECIPES
Four tablespoons butter, one large sliced onion, three large green peppers chopped, two large tomatoes, peeled, one quart okra, one-half teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, bread crumbs.
Brown the onion in the butter, add the green peppers, tomatoes and the okra, washed and cut. Add seasonings. Mix thoroughly. Turn into a buttered baking dish and bake in hot oven 20 to 30 minutes. Sprinkle with coarse bread crumbs and brown.

One quart okra, one cup rice, one-half can tomatoes, two tablespoons butter, salt, pepper and paprika.
Wash rice and cook in boiling, salted water until tender. Drain, add butter, salt, pepper, paprika. Cut okra in slices and cook in small quantity of boiling water. When nearly tender, add tomatoes and rice.

ORANGES PLENTIFUL
The summer crop of oranges is said to be a bumper one and the fruit in the smaller "juice sizes" is cheap and plentiful. Their value in adding flavor to fruit drinks is too well known to need much repeating, but have you tried iced tea with orange juice and lemon juice in equal proportions? Or an orange stuffed with peaches and cherries and served well chilled as a hot-weather luncheon salad?

Cut a slice from the top of medium sized orange and remove the pulp with a strong spoon. Cut pulp in small pieces and mix with sliced peaches and pitted sweet cherries. Mix with French dressing, fill the orange shell loosely with this mixture, garnish with a spoonful of cream mayonnaise and serve surrounded with crisp tender lettuce leaves.

RICE IN SALADS
Many vegetable salads are greatly improved by the addition of cold boiled rice instead of potatoes. This is true also of fish salads—crabfish, salmon, lobster, or tuna fish combine well with it, and in many cases it can be used to "stretch" the more expensive fish.

Be sure the rice is dry and flaky, mix it lightly with the other ingredients, and have the salad well seasoned. Boiled salad dressings are less rich than mayonnaise and are preferred by some people in hot weather because of the smaller amount of fat they contain. When they are used, be sure they are well seasoned.

FRESH LOBSTER SALAD IS ATTRACTIVE IN THE SHELL

One large lobster cooked, one-half cup French dressing, one cup mayonnaise, paprika, lettuce hearts, one small cucumber sliced thin. After removing large claws, split lobster open by cutting from tail end through whole length of body.

Remove claw meat carefully and set aside to use whole as garnish. Clean lobster. Save coral. Take out firm, white lobster meat and cut in small cubes (kitchen scissors are best for this purpose). Add French dressing to lobster meat and put in refrigerator to chill. Wipe inside of lobster shell. Press coral through a coarse sieve.

Mix with about one tablespoon of the mayonnaise and add to celery and lobster meat from which French dressing has been drained. Fill lobster shell with the salad, top with more mayonnaise and garnish with claws.

BOULASH MAKES CHEAPER MEAT TENDER AND SAVORY

Two pounds top round of beef, little flour, two tablespoons salt pork, two cups tomatoes, one stalk celery, one onion, two bay leaves, six whole cloves, six peppercorns, one blade mace.

Cut meat into two-inch pieces, sprinkle with flour, fry salt pork till light and brown, add meat and spices and cook slowly for 35 minutes, stirring occasionally. Cover with water and simmer about two minutes until slightly brown.

Season with salt, pepper, paprika.
For the sauce, cook in sufficient water to cover for 20 minutes through sieve and add to meat. Thicken with flour, range noodles in a border upon platter.

Broiled Cauliflower.
Steam cauliflower until tender and remove flower carefully. Put in a greased oven-proof plate and put under broiler for a few minutes until slightly brown.

"ALL-BRAN LIVES UP TO REPUTATION"

Her Constipation Overcome
 by This Delicious Cereal

If you are troubled with constipation, read Miss Bundy's enthusiastic letter:

"I would like to congratulate the one who discovered ALL-BRAN. It really does live up to its reputation
 when it is said to 'relieve constipation.'"
 "I used to feel poor all the time—
 just down and out—and after reading an advertisement in a magazine about ALL-BRAN I got a box.
 It has evermore helped me, and it is not hard at all to eat."—Miss Mary Bundy, Bennettsville, S. C.

Laboratory tests show ALL-BRAN brings two things needed to correct
 common constipation: "Bulk" to exercise the intestines; Vitamin B to help tone the intestinal tract. ALL-BRAN also furnishes iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of lettuce. Within the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently,
 it clears the intestines of wastes.

How much safer than taking pills and drugs—so often harmful. ALL-BRAN is not habit-forming. Two tablespoonfuls daily will overcome most types of constipation. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved
 this way, see your doctor.

Use as a cereal, or in cooking.

SALADS TWICE A DAY DURING SUMMER HEAT

Fruit and Vegetables in This Form Can't Be Served Too Often.

Salads should occupy an important place in warm weather meals.
 The more substantial may be the main course for luncheon or supper; the dainty, appetizing combinations of fresh fruits in salads
 may take the place of dessert, and those of seasonable vegetables and greens with flavorful dressings should be generously woven into every day's menu. Recipes below are for salads of varied types:

Country Salad.

Three cups diced tongue or other cold meat, three hard cooked
 eggs, one cup shredded cabbage,
 one small minced onion, and one-
 half cupful cucumber pickles, diced finely. Moisten using one-half cup mayonnaise. Mix well and season with salt, pepper and one-half teaspoon mustard. Chill and serve in deep, crisp lettuce cups, garnishing
 each serving with a slice of pickle.

Olive and Nut Salad.

Dissolve a package of lemon
 flavored gelatin in two cupfuls boiling water and when slightly thickened, fold in one-half cup chopped
 nut-meats and one-fourth cup stuffed olives, sliced. Pour into individual molds, chill and serve in nests of lettuce. Serve with mayonnaise.

Lemon Salad.

Heat one medium can cream of tomato soup to the boiling point.
 Add one and one-half tablespoons plain gelatin that has been soaked
 for five minutes in one-fourth cup cold water. Add two packages soft, white cream cheese and one-half cup mayonnaise. Mix thoroughly, using a Dover beater. When chilled and beginning to thicken, add one-half cup diced celery, one green pepper chopped, and one-fourth cup stuffed olives, sliced. Mold and serve in lettuce nests, garnishing with slices of olive.

Golden Gate Salad.

Mix one cup honey ball melen
 or cantaloupe cubes, one cup pineapple cubes, one cup fresh peach
 cubes and one cup diced marshmal-lows. Chill fruit and melen with mayonnaise. Heap generously in halves of chilled cantaloupe or small honey ball melen, from which part of the center has been removed. Over top, place a mound of whipped cream into which has been beaten current jelly. For each cup of whipped cream, use two tablespoons strained current jelly.
 Serve in nests of crisp lettuce.

DON'T CONFINE SERVING CORN TO 'ON THE COB' MONOTONY

Sautéed Corn and Peppers.

Three cups cooked corn off the cob, one seeded green pepper,
 chopped fine, one-half teaspoon
 salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper,
 four tablespoons butter or other cooking fat.
 Cut corn off cob. Add green pepper, salt and pepper. Turn into a hot frying pan in which the butter has been melted and saute gently until corn is a delicate brown.

Peppers Stuffed With Corn.

Six green peppers, two cups cooked corn, three-fourths cup bread crumbs, one teaspoon salt,
 one-fourth teaspoon pepper, six tablespoons grated cheese, three tablespoons butter.
 Remove top and seeds from green peppers. Mix other ingredients and fill peppers. Arrange in baking dish with one-half inch of water and bake 30 minutes in moderate oven.

Corn Souffle.

One tablespoon butter, one tablespoon flour, one-half cup milk, one teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon paprika, one pimento, two cups
 corn, two eggs.
 Make a white sauce of the butter, flour, milk and seasoning. Rub pimento through sieve—add it to the sauce. Add corn to mixture.
 Cool slightly, then add well beaten egg yolks and fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites. Turn into a greased baking dish. Set the dish in a pan of hot water. Bake in a moderate oven until set, about 30 minutes.

Corn With Bacon.

Cook a dozen slices of bacon until crisp. Pour off part of the fat after removing the bacon, add the corn, cut from six ears. Cook until a delicate brown, turning frequently. Serve with bacon.

FUDGE FROSTING

Two squares chocolate, one and one-half cups sugar, one-half cup milk, one tablespoon butter, one teaspoon vanilla.
 Melt chocolate and mix with sugar. Add milk, place on stove and stir until sugar is dissolved.
 Bring to the boiling point and boil
 without stirring until a little tested
 in cold water forms a soft ball.
 Add butter, cool until lukewarm and add vanilla. Beat until thick enough to spread on cake.

POTATO AND MEAT PIE

Four cups cooked meat (any kind), one teaspoon salt, one-half teaspoon pepper, one onion chopped fine, two tablespoons parsey chopped.
 Cut cold meat into pieces, add
 salt, pepper, onion and parsley.
 Line a greased baking dish—bottom and sides—with mashed potatoes. Fill dish with meat mixture; cover meat with layer of potato or rice. Dot with butter.
 Bake in moderate oven until nicely
 browned. Garnish with parsley.

WELL-FLAVORED SQUASH

Three tablespoons butter, one large onion, chopped, one quart diced summer squash, one and one-quarter teaspoons salt, one-half teaspoon sugar, one-eighth teaspoon pepper.
 Heat butter, fry onion in it until light brown, then add squash and seasonings. Cover and cook slowly till tender.

Peach Variation

By themselves ripe peaches are delicious enough in flavor, but as the peach season goes on and we serve them frequently, variations in that flavor are welcome. Sliced peaches with two or three tablespoons of chilled orange juice poured over each serving makes a wonderful breakfast fruit or dessert. Sprinkle the peaches lightly with powdered sugar and then pour

 the orange juice over them.

MY GOODNESS, MARY, IS THAT THE WAY YOU ORDER SUGAR?

WHAT DO YOU MEAN? HOW ELSE COULD I ASK FOR IT?

WHY, THE SAME AS YOU ORDER COFFEE OR ANYTHING ELSE. ASK FOR IT BY NAME AND BE SURE OF WHAT YOU'RE GETTING.

IS THAT WHY YOU ALWAYS HAVE SUCH MARVELOUS, QUICK-DISSOLVING SUGAR AT YOUR HOUSE?

MR. JONES, I WANT YOU TO BE SURE THAT SUGAR I ORDERED IS C&H MENU. AND SEND IT UP IN THE REFINERY BAG WITH THE C&H LABEL. THANK YOU.

OF COURSE, I INSIST ON C&H MENU SUGAR IN THE REFINERY PACKAGE. IT'S GUARANTEED PURE CANE!

SUNDAY NIGHT SUPPER TAXES HOSTESS' ART

Five Menus Given for Hot Weather Guests' Informal Meals.

Many women find Sunday night suppers in summer rather a problem, especially if guests drop in frequently. We are asked to suggest menus which are given below. Melba toast is excellent with fruit or vegetable salads, and will be particularly welcomed by those who are reducing weight.

Five Menus.
1. Crabmeat au gratin; lettuce sandwiches; peach Bavarian cream; nut wafers; loaf or hot coffee, iced tea or ginger ale.
2. Assorted cold cuts; rolled sandwiches; pickles and olives; frozen fruit salad with toasted sponge cake, hot or iced tea or coffee.
3. Salad ring of cream cheese and pineapple; melba toast or small blueberry muffins; hot or iced beverage, watermelon.
4. Creamed chicken and mushroom; celery, tiny hot biscuits, chilled peaches with cream and cookies, hot or cold beverage.
5. Potato and sardine salad; rye bread and butter or melba toast, assorted cheese (Swiss, requesfort and cream, or any combination preferred); ripe, cucumber pickle, fruit pie, hot or cold beverage.

BRAN MUFFINS

One cup sifted flour, three and one-half teaspoons combination baking powder, three tablespoons sugar, one-fourth teaspoon salt, three-fourths cup milk, one cup whole bran, one egg, well beaten, three tablespoons melted butter. Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, sugar and salt and sift again. Pour milk over bran. Add egg and butters to bran mixture. Add flour, stirring as little as possible. Bake in greased muffin pans in hot oven 20 minutes. Makes eight medium muffins.

Sweet Potatoes and Honey.

Boil 16 potatoes, cut into thick slices lengthwise. Put half a cup of strained honey into the bottom of a baking dish and heat it thoroughly. Lay in slices of potato, dusting with mace and cinnamon. The dish should be only one layer deep. If more potatoes are added, use a small quantity of water with the honey and cook a little longer.

Now serve better iced tea!

INDIA TEA

PEPPERS WITH ITALIAN CHEESE

Two-thirds cup butter, one large onion chopped, one large green pepper chopped, one and one-half cups tomato pulp, one cup cracker meal, one and one-half cups Italian cheese, one egg yolk, one-sixteenth teaspoon each clove, nutmeg, salt, pepper, six green peppers.

Brown onion and chopped green pepper in hot fat, add tomato, seasonings, cheese and enough cracker meal to make a stiff dough.

Roll into balls, flatten slightly, add egg yolk and remove from fire. Split large peppers in halves, lengthwise. Remove seeds and pulp. Brush over with oil, fill with cooked mixture and bake one-half hour.

or meat to make moisture almost, hold its shape. Add egg yolk and remove from fire. Split large peppers in halves, lengthwise. Remove seeds and pulp. Brush over with oil, fill with cooked mixture and bake one-half hour.

Mix two tablespoons flour with each cup of sugar for sweetening juicy fruit pie. This thickens the juice slightly and helps keep it in the pie, rather than bubbling over on the outside.

THAT CHEERY sign of health

No wonder it gives you a thrill to see the children eat with enjoyment. For it's a sign that they're well and happy and growing. When appetites fail, naturally you are concerned.

Then just bring Kellogg's Rice Krispies to the rescue. These crunchy rice bubbles, that actually crackle out loud in milk or cream, fascinate youngsters. Watch them eat!

Rice Krispies are one of the best of cereals for children. Nourishing, rich in energy, easy to digest. No other cereal is so "different" or will help you get more healthful variety into the children's meals.

Ask your grocer for the red-and-green package with the sealed inside WAXTITE bag. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Quality guaranteed.

THE BIGGEST BEAN VALUE IN HEINZ HISTORY!

Here's the biggest value in Heinz history—more baked beans for your money—and beans that are finer than ever! Heinz new bigger cans hold a whole helping more than the old cans did.

And Heinz Beans are oven-baked—not steamed or boiled like most so-called "baked beans." Oven-baking makes Heinz Beans lighter—more digestible. It lets the rich, savory tomato sauce penetrate through and through. It gives the beans a mellow, meaty goodness that beats any other beans you ever tasted. Try them—and you'll never be satisfied with any others.

Bigger value—finer baked beans—start enjoying both today!

PICKLED VEGETABLES ARE EASILY PREPARED

String Beans and Carrots Are Good With Many Spices.

No matter how much has already been put up, women are always glad to get new recipes and to try a few jars.

Pickled string beans and sweet pickled carrots may be new to our readers and are both good relishes for winter meals.

Pickled String Beans. Select young, tender beans about two inches long. Snap off the ends and leave the beans whole. Put two pounds of them in a bowl or crock and cover with a brine made in the proportion of one-quarter cup salt to each quart of water. Let stand over night.

Drain, rinse in cold water and dry on a cloth. Pack in sterilized jars adding one hot chili pepper to each pint jar. Scald one quart of vinegar, add one-half cup brown sugar, one-half teaspoon celery seed and one tablespoon pickle spice. Boil for a minute or two, then fill jars and seal.

Sweet Pickled Carrots. A delightful relish. Shred raw carrots to make six cupsful, boil in salted water for five minutes, drain. Mix two and one-half cups vinegar with one-half cup brown sugar, one small bayleaf, 18 whole cloves, one inch of stick cinnamon and the grated rind of one-half a lemon. Boil slowly for 20 minutes, add the carrots and simmer for five minutes. Pack into half-pint jars and seal.

VEAL AND RICE CURRY

One and one-half pounds of veal from leg or shoulder, cut in pieces for serving. Slice one large onion and brown lightly in two tablespoons of butter or fat. Add one and one-half teaspoons curry powder to meat. Sprinkle with two tablespoons lemon juice and cover closely. Cook 10 to 15 minutes; then add two cups strained tomato juice.

Season to taste, cover and simmer until the meat is well done, adding water if required. Serve on a hot platter surrounded with boiled rice.

SPICED PEARS

Select small, rather hard pears, peel them and stick three or four whole cloves in each. Stand them upright, close together in a saucepan and pour over them a mixture of two cups of brown sugar, three-fourths cup of vinegar and two cups of boiling water. Add three pieces of whole ginger and two sticks of cinnamon.

Cover and simmer over a low fire until fruit is tender, slightly colored and translucent. A few pears may be cooked at a time, removed from the syrup and more put in.

CORN FLAKES ARE GROUND FOR THIS CREAMY DESSERT

Four cups corn flakes, one-fourth cup sugar, one-fourth cup butter, one-half teaspoon cinnamon.

Put corn flakes through food grinder, using finest cutter. Mix thoroughly with sugar, butter and cinnamon. Line bottom of cake tin (about 8 inches square) with the mixture, reserving one-fourth cup for the top. Fill with following filling:

Filling. Two tablespoons flour, one-half cup sugar, one-fourth teaspoon salt, three egg yolks (well beaten), two cups scalded milk, one teaspoon vanilla.

Mix flour, sugar and salt. Add egg yolks and mix until smooth.

Meringue.

Cool and pour into lined pan and top with following meringue: Beat three egg whites until they hold their shape, but not until they lose their shiny appearance, and add six tablespoons sugar.

Spread on top of pie and sprinkle with remaining crumbs. Bake in a slow oven for 45 minutes. Cool and serve.

Left-Over Melon.

Balls—they ones—cut from ripe watermelon or cantaloupe and served in sherbet glasses with chilled orange juice make a good and very delicious fruit appetizer for a hot night. See that the melon

11 BLOCKS OF CAR TRACKS TO BE TORN UP DOWNTOWN

State Commission Authorizes Removal of Tracks in Downtown St. Louis. The tracks to be torn up are: Double tracks in Fourteenth street, between Washington and Clark avenues; double tracks in Walnut street, between Fourth and Sixth streets; single track in Thirteenth street, between Market and Pine streets.

The removals in Thirteenth and in Walnut are in connection with the abandonment of tracks in Market street downtown, which took place last Wednesday midnight. The company is giving up its Market street tracks, east of Twenty-first street, because of the widening of the street. As part of the plan of re-routing cars downtown, the Compton line has been shifted from Fourteenth street to Twelfth boulevard. The company said it wanted to drop the Fourteenth street tracks because of interference caused from prospective construction work on Municipal Auditorium and Memorial Plaza.

AMERICAN RETAILERS ELECT INDIANA MAN PRESIDENT

Ben Allen Chosen as Directors' Meeting Here; Scott R. de Kins Secretary-Treasurer. Ben Allen of Washington, Ind., was elected president yesterday of the American Retailers' Association at a directors' meeting at Hotel Jefferson, following a two-day meeting of the association, attended by 1500 merchants from 28 states.

Four vice-presidents were elected. They are A. G. Baldrige, Fulton, Ky.; Julius Dupont, Houlton, Me.; John Lott, Perryville, Mo., and Louis Weisberg, Longmont, Colo. Scott R. de Kins, secretary of the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce, was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

The retailers, who were in St. Louis primarily to do their fall buying, participated in sales and national sessions Monday and Tuesday nights and attended the Municipal Opera Wednesday night.

CITIZENS' EMPLOYMENT BUREAU MAKES PLEA FOR ODD JOBS

Director Says Even Small Amounts of Work Will Aid Morale of Applicants. Citizens' Free Employment Bureau, 1806 Washington avenue, is seeking to find odd jobs which would provide one or several days work a week for some of the 50,000 persons registered there as unemployed.

An occasional job may not mean much financially, Leo McCarthy, director of the bureau, said in a radio talk yesterday, but is of great help in maintaining the morale of the unemployed. He urged employers and housewives to call Citizens' Bureau whenever work is available.

PURSE-SNATCHER IS CAPTURED

Traffic Patrolman Chases Negro. Traffic Patrolman Otto Lehr, driving in his automobile at Jefferson avenue and Locust street when off duty yesterday, captured a Negro purse-snatcher after a chase of several blocks.

Hearing a woman scream as her purse was snatched, Lehr pursued the fugitive, capturing him behind some boxes in the 2300 block, Locust street. After being identified by the woman, Miss Marie Meyers, 2362 West Pine boulevard, the prisoner told where he had thrown the purse. It was empty, although it had contained $5.50, a rosary and a cigarette lighter.

CHAPTER SEVENTEEN.

SIR MAURICE HARTER, the Harley street physician, world famous for his treatment of nerves, completed his examination, looked Argels up and down and smiled. The reassurance of that smile was in itself a godsend to his patient.

"Physically," the physician pronounced, "you are fit as a bell. You are, indeed, a very strong man. There are indications of your nerves having been troubled. What's the matter? Describe your symptoms."

Argels sat down and began to button up his clothes. He was able to speak about himself now more confidently. "I have always been a man of courage," he said, not quite truthfully, "but lately I have become afraid. I am afraid, too, of impossible things. I wake up in the night and dream that something has happened which could not happen. I feel the sweat all over my face and my heart beating as though it had got out of control altogether."

"It hasn't, you know," the doctor reminded him, quietly. "Your heart will do its work automatically and do it very well."

"I know—at least I know now," Argels confessed. "In the night sometimes I am not master of myself. That fear I was telling you about seems to affect my work. Sometimes I forget an engagement. I am a speculator, and, although I am really very careful, at times I lose all confidence in my investments. If, at any time, I have gone home early, before market closes, and the telephone rings, I have to get someone else to answer it. In a very short time I have to make a visit and claim a large sum of money from a place where it has been deposited for several years."

"I have been looking forward to that day ever since I returned to England. Now, suddenly, I am afraid to go."

"Tell me, has this fear any definite nature?" the physician asked.

Argels hesitated. "I will tell you," he confessed, "what is at the root of it all. It is spread now in other directions. What I am afraid of is the ill will the revenge of a man who is in Sing Sing Prison in New York, sentenced to 15 years' penal servitude. He cannot possibly escape. He cannot possibly get a remission of more than five years. Therefore, for 10 years he is between steel walls. Yet I am afraid of him. I have a cable from the Warden of the prison, who is a friend of mine, at least once a week, telling me of his condition, his health, and that he is safe. When the cable comes I scarcely dare open it myself; if it is an hour or two late, I get into a fever."

"The physician was interested. It seemed to him a curious case. "A man doing penal servitude in a famous prison like Sing Sing," he said, "and with 10 years of his sentence run, is it safe as though he were in his coffin, so far as the possibility of his doing you any harm is concerned. Did he threaten you before he was put away?"

"Not in words," Argels confessed reluctantly.

"He smiled," Argels confessed reluctantly.

"What do you mean—'he smiled'?"

"That was stupid of me," his patient admitted. "You wouldn't understand. You don't know the man. I can only tell you that the smile was worse than any gesture or threat he might have indulged in."

"Well, his threat hasn't done you much harm up till now," the physician remarked cheerfully. "What was his grievance?"

"I let him down," Argels explained. "I let him down. At the trial, if I had given my evidence differently, I could have got him off with, at any rate, a very much lighter sentence. It was not exactly pleasant hearing. Have you ever felt like making a statement to the authorities?"

"Thank you," Argels said. "And your fee, doctor?"

"Five guineas. . . . Thank you. I am a physician, remember, and not a moralist, but I have come to the conclusion, from close observation, that the worst cases of unbalanced nerves with which I have ever had to deal are those in which the sufferers are afflicted with a bad conscience."

"If you could find any means of undoing a portion of the harm which you seem to have done to this man, you would have a much better chance of complete recovery."

Argels picked up his hat. The physician appeared not to notice his extended hand and he was already halfway to the door when a voice from behind stopped him.

"BY THE BYE, Mr. Argels, have you seen the newspaper this morning?" Sir Maurice asked.

Argels swung round. "I haven't this morning," he admitted. "I was late in getting up and I hurried so as to be your first patient."

"The physician pointed to a paragraph in the Times which lay upon a table by his side. "There appears to have been a mutiny in Sing Sing prison last night," he announced.

"A mutiny?" Argels exclaimed. "Good God! What happened? Did any prisoners escape?"

"Five wardens were shot and 11 prisoners escaped," the physician recounted. "You see what it says. Two were recaptured, but nine escaped into the city, and so far, have evaded arrest."

"Every scrap of Argels' reawakened confidence was gone. The color seemed drained from his cheeks. He snatched the paper up and read the paragraph feverishly. There were no names mentioned. "Good God!" he repeated.

"Was your friend," the physician asked, "a man of course, a man likely to associate himself with an attempt of this sort?"

Argels nodded. His tongue was too dry for speech.

"There were four prisoners shot," the doctor pointed out. "He might have been one of those."

"I hope to God he was," was the muttered response.

The physician scribbled out another prescription and handed it to his patient.

"There, I'll make you a present of that," he said. "Call at the first chemist you come to and let him make it up. When you've taken it, sit down, and think the matter out calmly. The odds are pretty heavy against your man being one of the nine, and, if he were, still heavier against his ever reaching Europe. Good morning, Mr. Argels."

Argels left the room with uncertain footsteps, leaned upon the butler's arm during his progress down the hall, and almost fell into his automobile when he reached the street.

At the top of his pile of letters was a cablegram. He tore it open with shaking fingers. It was from New York:

SYNOPSIS.

Reuben Argels, London financial genius, finds himself being outwitted by his former New York partner, Andrew Pulchier, who is secretly playing the market on the opposite side as well as taking from Argels big deals with promissory notes. In this Pulchier has the assistance of Moran Chambers, third member of a New York firm broken up when Chambers was sentenced to 15 years in Sing Sing. He was the scapegoat through Argels' perjured testimony.

Argels had a narrow escape from assassination on shipboard at the hands of one of Chambers' henchmen, but he was rescued by a woman who was sentenced. Chambers, after a few weeks in prison, hired a substitute and escaped.

Pulchier has the assistance also of Ambrosia Kotina, beautiful cinema actress, who refuses Argels' attentions, but allows him to visit her in order to learn Argels' business secrets.

To offset Pulchier's efforts, Argels bribes Miss Violet Withers, Pulchier's secretary, to obtain information of the latter's market commitments. Further than this, despite many temptations, Miss Withers refused to go with Argels.

One night, at the street entrance to Miss Withers' apartment, Argels sees a figure resembling Chambers. He becomes terror-stricken and flees, closely followed by his own automobile, his chauffeur having difficulty keeping up with him.

Argels is picked up by his hat. The physician appeared not to notice his extended hand and he was already halfway to the door when a voice from behind stopped him.

"BY THE BYE, Mr. Argels, have you seen the newspaper this morning?" Sir Maurice asked.

Argels swung round. "I haven't this morning," he admitted. "I was late in getting up and I hurried so as to be your first patient."

"The physician pointed to a paragraph in the Times which lay upon a table by his side. "There appears to have been a mutiny in Sing Sing prison last night," he announced.

"A mutiny?" Argels exclaimed. "Good God! What happened? Did any prisoners escape?"

"Five wardens were shot and 11 prisoners escaped," the physician recounted. "You see what it says. Two were recaptured, but nine escaped into the city, and so far, have evaded arrest."

"Every scrap of Argels' reawakened confidence was gone. The color seemed drained from his cheeks. He snatched the paper up and read the paragraph feverishly. There were no names mentioned. "Good God!" he repeated.

"Was your friend," the physician asked, "a man of course, a man likely to associate himself with an attempt of this sort?"

Argels nodded. His tongue was too dry for speech.

"There were four prisoners shot," the doctor pointed out. "He might have been one of those."

"I hope to God he was," was the muttered response.

The physician scribbled out another prescription and handed it to his patient.

"There, I'll make you a present of that," he said. "Call at the first chemist you come to and let him make it up. When you've taken it, sit down, and think the matter out calmly. The odds are pretty heavy against your man being one of the nine, and, if he were, still heavier against his ever reaching Europe. Good morning, Mr. Argels."

Argels left the room with uncertain footsteps, leaned upon the butler's arm during his progress down the hall, and almost fell into his automobile when he reached the street.

At the top of his pile of letters was a cablegram. He tore it open with shaking fingers. It was from New York:

Trouble here in prison last night. 1790 shot and ten—thirteen were killed, and his door unlocked. "uring stampede, will

MALCOLM CLARKE . . . built the floating home.

THE river as a means of ending troubles caused by the depression, of escaping the bill collector, the landlord, electric light and gas bills, the telephone bill and transportation fares, the river as a refuge from many of life's complexities, is recommended by Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Clarke. Not in any sinister sense. Don't jump to that conclusion. I pray you. The river has proved their reason for continuing to enjoy life, not of ending it.

It isn't a tragedy, their seeking the river, but simply a happy and agreeable solution of their immediate economic problem.

Their way of working this out has been to build a houseboat which is tied up at the foot of Franklin avenue, all shipshape and cozy, not a luxuriously fitted yacht, but nevertheless decorated artistically and with individuality, not very spacious but proven adequate to their needs during two years of occupancy. Space has even been found for an extra cot for the young daughter of Mrs. Clarke by a previous marriage, who has been spending her school vacation with them.

Whatever the disadvantages, it is claimed they are offset by the fact that their home cost them less than $100 to build and that the family upkeep is reduced to the bare essentials of food and clothing, fuel and light which are supplied by gasoline and kerosene at so much per gallon, and in winter coal at so much per bushel.

These bare essentials are provided by the wife, who has a job in a department store in walking distance uptown where she teaches other women who are blessed with more expensive homes to decorate objects with which to further complicate them.

The husband refuses to be counted among the unemployed for though he has been unable to obtain or perhaps to adapt himself to a regular job, he finds himself pretty well occupied doing the housework, the cooking, the laundry and even a bit of the ironing required. A husky, thick chested figure of a man, tanned by exposure to the weather, clad in duck trousers, undershirt and yachting cap, certainly there is no lack of a bit of the ironing required. A husky, thick chested figure of a man, tanned by exposure to the weather, clad in duck trousers, undershirt and yachting cap, certainly there is no lack of a bit of the ironing required.

He boasts of his superior cooking, points with pride to the linen frock his wife is wearing as an example of his ironing and the hamming of the curtains as his handiwork.

"A tough looking customer came along and razzed me when I was hanging some rayon steps out on the line. I invited him to come on and let me man-handle him. I could have done it, too," he remarked truculently.

"He doesn't want a job," announced Mrs. Clarke, pretending to bring him "down to his size," but confidentially she will tell you she does not object to but encourages the situation since she is happy pursuing her artistic bent and he is the most interesting man in the ward to live with.

It is not hard to imagine how a girl of conventional upbringing, which she scoffs at, of aristocratic lineage which she denounces when her husband reminds her of it, who went from Texas to Chicago to study art and met her husband when he was chairman of the forum of that rendezvous of intellectual bohemians, the Dill Pickle Club, should have been attracted to him. He must have originated in England and gone to Oxford, from his accent but he sweepingly and contemptuously denies all association with any country, school, creed, craft, society, any man-conceived institutions whatsoever. He has lived on every continent and sailed the seven seas, he will tell you, and followed so many callings he cannot begin to enumerate them. "I am entirely self-educated," he proclaims, and proceeds to talk you down on any subject, philosophy, opinion, theory, viewpoint, you may venture to introduce, quoting authorities the most abstruse, and proceeding from his book shelf volumes the most impressive—books you never even heard of—to annihilate you in an argument.

HE quoted at length to dispose of the utility and transiency of all man's inventions and saluted the cockroach and the dog-fish as being the only species existing that have maintained their original form and purpose since the earth was Silurian slime and will be able to say when vaunted civilizations have vanished. "They were fast babies in their day," they could not survive us." What ever is his mysterious philosophy, the essential thing to us is that he has not been above reducing the urgent domestic and economic problem to terms so simple that they may commend themselves to persons of less lofty intellectual attainments.

They landed in St. Louis two years ago, with a car that had served to take them from coast to coast and from Canada to Mexico, but without the price of another gallon of gasoline. It wasn't the first time they had been stranded, they admit, for they had been living in touring camps and picking up a living at chance jobs, he, once in a long while selling an article to a highbrow magazine and she more frequently sketches and objects of handiwork. They were just as resourceful as ever, but having seen the whole country they were ready to settle down for a spell. The first thing to be thought of under these circumstances was a place of abode. If there was no money for a gallon of gasoline, there was still less towards a month's rent. Settling down, they could dispense with the car, so it was sold for what it would bring, not much, but enough to tide them over the period of securing a roof over their heads. Now there was nothing for investment in real estate either, but there was the Mississippi, free to anybody who could make use of its broad if not very stable surface.

NO telling where Malcolm Clarke learned about boat building and I told you they were resourceful. In less than three weeks a water-tight hull, rectangular walls and a roof had been erected and the impromptu ship yard was at that point on the levee where Hooverville has since sprung up. Clarke says his building enterprise was the inspiration of the pioneer citizens of Hooverville. They saw from his example what could be done with salvaged wreckage and discarded building materials and the odd shacks that now house the village of unemployed are the result.

With a roof over their heads they could proceed more leisurely with the interior fitting of their craft, could be more particular and choosy about what they "scrunged" as they call their method of obtaining materials. For parts of the wreckage of the Asp, the alleged run runner which had been driven ashore and abandoned some time ago it required some bargaining but at last some choice solid mahogany timbers, cupboard doors and shelves were wangled and that's how comes the kitchen sink is mounted atop a mahogany cupboard and covered with a mahogany shelf when not in use, the gasolene stove, likewise and other cupboards and stove-way places are of the same exotic wood. Some of the hardware and a maple table have the same glamorous history. Other pieces of furniture, an antique dresser and some spilt-bottomed chairs were bargained for as skillfully in secondhand shops. Then when walls were beaver-boarded and window casings and a French provincial corner cupboard were in place the clever hands of the obstinate Clarke came into play with the result that sunny yellow walls and lacquer red woodwork form the background for red velvet, jade and red plaid curtains, chaise-covered divans and cushions, pillows, paintings in modernistic style which are her handiwork, colorful pottery, china, glass, big green glass tarboys which hold the drinking water supply and innumerable objects of her own handiwork or collection. The amateur shipwright proved himself as adept at plumbing as at wood construction.

ALL extremes of weather are encountered on the river. In winter ice grinds and groans ominously. There have been floods which gave their home a lift up the levee. In summer it is hot at midday but cool at other times and are breezes most refreshing to visitors from the West End and suburbs. There is plenty of life and movement, too much movement. When starkers pass you think you are being rocked in the cradle of the deep.

There are fish to catch, floating targets at which to practice marksmanship and a rare collection of firearms to practice with. There is swimming to be done and the antics of scores of naked little boys in the water not far away to provide amusement and excitement when they venture out too far and have to be rescued. It is a steep rocky climb over the levee to the moorings but this does not deter a rather wide acquaintance the Clarke have made in literary and artistic circles from visiting their unique menage.

Now that they have become fixtures and on neighborly terms with the resident superintendent of the Mount City boats living nearby in a quaint cottage set on stilts and hung with vines growing from boxes of earth, the nomads are beginning to feel the wanderlust again. A motor boat has been acquired and no telling what day they may weigh anchor to go on a voyage of exploration of Old Man River or to tie up where other business opportunities offer more alluring harbors entice them.

About NEW YORK by Wm. Gaines

NEW YORK, AUG. 11. THERE'S a Russian restaurant over on East Fourteenth where the emigre may get a heavy but tasty meal for about half a dollar. And he feels perfectly at home.

This place is in the biggest Russian quarter but, until recently, it went unnoticed by invading sightseers. Most of its patrons were and still are Russian workmen. Now outsiders are butting in and times being what they are, they are received with a measure of politeness by the management.</

DAILY STORY FOR CHILDREN

By Mary Graham Bonner

Moda's Rescue

"G" who had been swimming a little distance from Moda. But before Peggy had finished shouting John and the other boys had jumped into the water. It was only a distance of two strokes to reach Moda and John grabbed her by the hair and then got hold of her arm. He swam side stroke back to the raft—only two strokes, but what terrific strokes!

Moda coughed a little and spluttered some water, but she was perfectly all right except for her fright. Peggy took her back to the big house and the others followed along.

"You shouldn't have let her go when the water was deep," Moda's mother said to John and Peggy. "She said she could swim as well as we could," Peggy answered.

"It was John who saved her from drowning," Freddy exclaimed. "I'm really surprised you children let her go where it was deep." Moda's mother repeated, but Peggy and John's father looked at her and shook his head. The children knew that he understood what had happened.

"They thought she could swim better than she can," their father said. "I don't think we should do any swimming. John's quick thinking saved her. I'm very proud of John."

John was so happy he hardly knew what to say. But he said to himself:

"I've got to be a stronger swimmer than I am. It was all I could do to swim those two strokes and pull Moda along with me. I'm going to pull logs around in the water and get over so strong."

A Radical Change

HOW completely eating habits depend upon the atmosphere under which meals are taken is shown strikingly in the case of a 3-year-old child who within 14 weeks had lost 13 pounds. Father, mother, nurse and an army of servants were unable to persuade her to eat.

The child's condition was serious. Even the excellent pediatrician who had been called in was completely helpless against the child's refusal to chew, swallow or keep down for more than two minutes such food as was forcibly fed to her.

An expert was sent for, a woman who specialized in cultivating an appetite in the child without one. She understood immediately that here there was no time to be lost in a detailed investigation of causes, that radical measures were necessary.

She removed the child at once from his luxurious home, from his nurse and his anxious parents and placed it in the home of a working man where a mother and five children sat down to three simple, hearty meals daily.

Here eating was a privilege and a competition. He who ate promptly received a second helping, and he who dawdled would very likely find that there was nothing left when he asked for more.

In these surroundings the child began to eat immediately. In three months she had gained back all the weight she had lost with such startling rapidity.

It is not always possible and apparently not always necessary to discover exactly what elements in the eating situation have spoiled a child's appetite.

Sometimes evidently a complete change is all that is needed to break up the child's negative attitude and stimulate a normal appetite.

Dear MRS. CARR: I would like so much to help "Polly Anna" whom you answered in the Aug. 1 Post-Dispatch. Would you please send me her address or this letter to her? I belong to a group of nice girls and the cost of joining this group is very small. Our group meets in the heart of the city.

You are kind to offer, and I shall forward any communication from "Polly Anna" to you. However, I do not have her address now.

Propose of this letter, I would like to say to correspondents who write to the column for help or serious kind that I shall ask them to please to leave full name and address with stamped, self-addressed envelope with me, for replies that may come to me for them. This will save unnecessary waste of time, and the use of unnecessary space in the paper. These communications will not be used in full in the column.

Dear MRS. CARR: Just another reader seeking advice for troubles. I have been married four years and have two curly-haired boys.

Before our marriage, my husband went with another girl who was a sweetheart in grade school. While he was in college four years ago we were at odds. When we got together, which was in 200 miles away, his sister invites this girl to dinner nearly every night. When the girl is there his sister says to my babies, "This is the one who should have been your mother instead of that thing (which means me)."

My husband's father cries and says he will always take my part. This sister is always giving me a hard time, such as clothes, for the sake of politeness, I take them. When my husband is around his father he is insulting to me. We are congenial about books and sports and music, but she is determined to break us up.

PUZZLED WIFE.

It looks as if the men of the family are pretty ineffectual in their methods with the lady shrew. She distinctly up to your husband, and then to his father to make some sort of effort to give you the proper dignity and position in the family. I should not go back until this is assured, to visit at the father's home. And, since your husband makes every effort to improve my English and spelling. Take a private course.

DEAR MRS. CARR: I am desirous of spending, perhaps, two weeks at a nice quiet, private place located in the country, not far from St. Louis—not a regular resort or vacation camp. Woods where I can take walks. What I need is plenty of rest. Can give good references and can pay reasonable board.

L. M.

I have several addresses of farms and country places (which of course you would have to investigate yourself, for the reason that I have not seen them). But know

INDEFINITE DELAY
IN CARRYING OUT MUNICIPAL AND
EADS BRIDGE DEAL

With Less Than Half of Railroad Approaches
Built, Work Is at Standstill — Plan Was to Go Into Effect by 1933.

SOME DIFFICULTY
OVER RIGHT OF WAY

Terminal Head Doesn't Say
If Money Is Available but Cites Commerce Chamber Suggestion for Financing
by R. F. C.

With less than one-half the work
on new railroad approaches
for the Municipal Bridge, the plan opening the bridge to use of the terminal Association and its constituent roads is at a standstill.
Opening of Eads Bridge upper deck as a public highway, under control of the City of St. Louis and on the same basis as the upper deck of the Municipal Bridge, is also delayed indefinitely.

The ordinances effecting the bridge deal were enacted in July, 1930. As lately as last January it was officially predicted that the approaches would be complete by
Oct. 1, next, and that the new arrangement would be in full effect by the beginning of 1932. This is no longer considered possible, and to one at City Hall or at the terminal Association offices will undertake to set a new date.

Of the five approaches named in the ordinance, the most expensive,
the East St. Louis Union Station approach, has been built with $1,000,000 advanced to the city by the terminal Association, "under the financing agreement. The Terminal was to advance the remainder of the cost of the approaches, estimated at $1,630,000, but city officials have not seen the money,
and the necessary western approach extension in St. Louis is not beyond the stage of engineering
plans. Three minor approaches, two on the East Side and one in St. Louis, are also unbuilt.

Right-of-Way Difficulty.
The ostensible reason for delay,
to the western approach extension, has been difficulty in getting right-of-way over the tracks of the Missouri Pacific and Frisco railroads, which would be crossed by the elevated structure of the approach. The extension is to run on Twelfth street.

Henry Miller, president of the terminal, was asked by a Post-Dispatch reporter as to the reason for the delay. He said some modifications of the plans had been made, and that some of the delay
had occurred at City Hall.

"Is the Terminal ready to furnish the money for the work?"
Miller was asked. "I can't say,"
was his reply.

"Too many have noticed," Miller
added, "that a Chamber of Commerce committee, suggesting work
be financed by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, included in its list the immediate construction of all necessary approaches to the Municipal Bridge, at a cost, $1,500,000." He did not comment further on this proposal.

The Board of Public Service last January advertised for bids for construction of foundations and abutments for the western approach. The lowest bid, submitted by a Chicago firm, was for $69,343.

President Kinsey later informed the board that the work could not be undertaken then, because of unanticipated delays in getting the right-of-way. It had been the understanding, he said, that the Terminal Association would attend to getting the needed rights for crossing the Missouri Pacific and Frisco,
but this was not done.

All Bids Rejected.
April 12, last, on Kinsey's recommendation, the Board of Public Service rejected all bids for the approach work, and nothing has been done since, except that the City Counselor's office has talked with Thomas M. Pierce, counsel for the Terminal, with no definite result.

The ordinances of July, 1930,
provide for advance by the Terminal to the city of the cost of the approaches, which shall be built by the city and shall be the city's property; use of the Municipal Bridge by the Terminal and its member roads at a rental charge amounting to at least $100,000 a year; taking over by the city of Eads Bridge upper deck at a rental of $140,000 a year; the differ-
